One Man's Opinion

By CARL BRIGGS

Isn't it really about time we take a close look at some of the obvious causes of air pollution in the immediate Truckee – North Tahoe area and do something about it?

It's an easy matter sometimes to rationalize and excuse and overlook what is occurring right in front of us, particularly when those involved are friends, neighbors, employers, and stalwart pillars of the community.

An outside contractor recently set up an asphalt batch plant near Donner Lake, a plant which for a number of weeks spewed great quantities of junk into the air. The populace indignantly climbed his frame and made life miserable for him for befouling our atmosphere, as well they should, and it seems likely the contractor might hesitate a moment before again bidding on jobs in this region.

Such traditional western Vigilante treatment is not recommended for established local business concerns, but a straightforward and persistent request from residents that corrective measures be examined, perfected, and employed to alleviate air pollution is certainly not unreasonable.

Two industrial entities in the Truckee – Donner area have proven themselves many times over the years to be strong, responsible, ethical members of the community. It stands to reason that a sincere appeal from the community for them to seek correction of an undesirable condition caused by their operations will result in positive action. But it often takes a strong voice – many voices in unison – before the big fellow can hear you.

A developer in Tahoe City piles scrap, junk, tree stumps – and sometimes old tires – in a huge mound near Highway 89, then periodically throws fuel on the whole mess and lights it. The resulting pall of black oily smoke is incredible and the fire sometimes burns on for days and days.

There are others, to be sure. Diesel trucks and buses — including school buses – are notorious air polluters, ejecting black smoke and fumes of an especially noxious quality. The same applies to incinerator burning.

Awareness of our environment and emphasis upon preserving it are leading issues of the day. New laws and regulatory agencies are just around the corner. It isn't too soon to start now to correct conditions which in a few months or years may have to be terminated by law.

It really is about time, wouldn't you say so? Are there any voices out there?

It has been the contention of many that a degree of daffiness goes right along with county politics – that you have to be tetched to get into it and are sure to be tetched by the time you get out of it.

Possible proof of this was demonstrated last week in Nevada City when the four supervisors had a "weigh-in" on state – inspected meat scales (what else?) and checked out at a collective 845 pounds. That's an average of 211 pounds each, and when you consider an average stature of rather runty proportions – well, you get the idea.

John Gallegos, county chamber manager, was weighed too but his poundage was considered classified information. It was felt, however, that the average would not have suffered any appreciable loss and indeed might have gained a few points had John joined the group weigh-in.

The ceremony took place at supervisor Ralph Buchanan's grocery store. Chairman Willie Curran reportedly emptied his pockets of coins and currency (how much can $1.17 weigh?) before participating, while others removed watches and glasses.

Purpose of all this non-official activity was supposed to be a collective resolution to reduce poundage, but who knows for sure?

By ELLEN ATTARDI

A distinguished panel of judges will officiate at the 9th annual SNOBALL at the Topaz Room of the Nevada Lodge this Friday evening, January 16. The prime responsibility of the judges will be the selection of the 1970 Miss Sierra Snowflake from among fourteen lovely candidates. Named to be members of the panel of judges are Maria Nicholas, commentator from KCRA, channel 3 of Sacramento; Barbara Grogan, noted ice skater and Olympic gold medalist; Professor John James, climatologist; Bob Carrol, KTVN commentator from channel 2, Reno; and Candy Pierce, entertainment editor from Reno. Presiding judges are Barney and Eileen Wilen of Kings Beach.

Miss Sierra Snowflake hopefuls are Nancy Millspaugh, Jo Burris, Mary McCaffrey, Barbara Randol, Debbie Rich, Sharon Roberts, Kristina St. George, Michele Sayre, Lynn Aro, Cindy Benson, Liz Brazet, Cathy Fields, Cindy Hiatt and Karla Meixner.

Master of ceremonies for this year's ball is Danny Marvin of Oceanside in southern California. Marvin is well known as a comic and radio and TV performer in addition to his "professional" job as manager of a Southern California chamber of commerce.

Working with North Tahoe Chamber president Gardner Mein and ball chairman Marilyn Fugazi on arrangements for the affair are Sharon Laferriere, Jan Collins, Betty Layton, Maxine Olson, Les Edinburg, Ray Huston, Carole Onorato and Dottie Intorf. Named as junior hostesses for the party are Sally Starratt, Lyn Fugazi, Lynn Duttweiler, Kathy Hollerbach and Kristan Attardi.

LAST YEAR'S WINNER – Judi Birmingham of Tahoe City was Miss Sierra Showflake for 1969, will be present Friday night to crown new queen.

The party is open to the public with a donation tag of $6.50 per person which includes a buffet dinner and dancing as well as a chance of winning a prize. Among the door prizes and special prizes are an electrical appliance from Sierra Pacific Power Company, a season ski pass from Squaw Valley Lodge, a package of six dinners-for-two and an 18-inch portable television set. On stage for the awarding of prizes will be Father Connelly of Kings Beach and Father Shaheen of Tahoe City.

Admission tickets may be purchased at the door the night of the party commencing at 6 p.m. Festivities are slated to start at 6:30 p.m. with the Snowflake contest starting at 8:30 p.m.

To Study Sewage Plan

Five Lake Tahoe and Truckee utility districts have agreed to form a working committee to launch a detailed study on how best to dispose of sewage effluent from Lake Tahoe, Truckee, Squaw Valley, Alpine Meadows, and Donner Lake.

At the suggestion of Fred McLaren, sanitary engineer for the Lahontan Regional Water Quality Control Board, the first meeting of the committee was set for January 26 in the board room of the North Tahoe Public Utility District building, Tahoe Vista, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Committee members will include managers of all five utility districts and their engineering firms. The group's goals will be study all possible solutions to the sewage export problem. McLaren said the state has set aside $25,000 for such a comprehensive study by a five-district committee.

It was pointed out that all treatment and disposal sites would be studied in areas such as Sierraville, Martis Valley, Fallon, Pyramid Lake, and other regions in the Truckee River watershed. A proposal to use the planned Martis reservoir as a recreational lake such as South Lake Tahoe has done in Alpine County was also discussed.

Jack Marquette, manager of the Truckee-Donner Sanitary District, said that his board was not opposed to bringing Lake Tahoe's effluent to the Martis Valley area, but did not want the region to become a "cesspool" with above-ground ponds or subsurface leeching which might create a mosquito-breeding problem.

Also this week Randolph Dewante, a Sacramento engineer, on behalf of the five utility districts, sought the opinions of board directors of the Truckee-Tahoe Airport District in regard to a request to permit drilling in the spring of sewage effluent disposal test holes on airport property.

Airport trustees indicated previously they will oppose anything which interferes with the airport operation. Their main worry is the creation of fog near the airport.

Preliminary studies indicated seven possible sites in Martis Valley. The airport district can block the use of three sites if it believes an aviation hazard would be created.

There are no direct discharges allowed into any rivers east of the Sierra Nevada. The regulations could be changed, but California, Nevada and the federal government would have to agree in cases of interstate waters such as the Truckee.

The final export and disposal system down the Truckee River will cost $15 to $17 million if reasonable treatment and disposal systems can be devised.

Ewen Renamed Alpine Chief

Alan D. Ewen was re-elected president and chief executive officer of Alpine Meadows of Tahoe Inc. at a recent meeting of the board of directors. New officers are Dwight Steele of Marin County, who was named a vice president of the corporation, and Lawrence Blair of San Francisco, who was named treasurer. Dick Schiveley, controller of the company and a resident of the Tahoe area, was named assistant treasurer.

Boosters Meet

The Tahoe – Truckee High School athletic booster's club will discuss fund-raising projects and dinner activities at a meeting set for January 15 at the Kings Beach Elementary School beginning at 8 p.m.

Placer Board Approves Plan For Serene Lakes Project

AUBURN - The start of a major Sierra subdivision development at Serene Lakes south of Soda Springs was assured when the Placer County Board of Supervisors overruled the planning commission to allow 6,500-square-foot lots in part of the development.

The 22,100-unit subdivision is planned by Mrs. Frank Patty, and will include skiing and some commercial development in an approximate 4 - square - mile area.

The controversy over lot size arose after the Planning Commission reversed its position and insisted on 10,000-square-foot lots. The developers then protested, stating they had invested considerable money on engineering for the smaller lots.

Sewage disposal plans were questioned by Albert O. Marino, chief of environmental health, after a director of the Serene Lakes Water District stated the effluent would be treated to potable standards and then released in lakes or in a stream.

"I want to point out that we have a county ordinance prohibiting direct discharge of treated sewage into streams above the 1,500 foot elevation," he said. Marino also stated the sewage treatment would have to meet high standards.

Robert Gray, a planner and spokesman for the developer, said work can get under way on two units of the subdivision as soon as weather conditions permit.

Warm Rains Continue

Above normal precipitation and warmer temperatures were reported this week for the North Tahoe region by the Truckee ranger station.

Instruments recorded 2.58 inches of precipitation since January 8 which included seven inches of snow. This was one inch higher than the normal 13 inches for mid-January.

On January 3 a low of six degrees below zero was recorded at the station but warmer temperatures are now predominant.

Bond Election: Local School Needs Are Critical

The mushrooming growth of the North Lake Tahoe and Truckee- Donner community as one of the West's few remaining unspoiled recreational areas has brought economic stability but has also been accompanied by new problems associated with that growth. One of those problems is providing adequate educational facilities for an increasing number of students in the Tahoe - Truckee Unified School District.

On February 24 school board trustees will ask district voters to approve an increase in the interest rate from five to seven per cent on $1 million in unsold school bonds. Funds from the bond sale at the higher interest rate will permit the construction of the new Rideout Elementary School three miles south of Tahoe City and an eight-classroom addition onto the Truckee Elementary School. These projects appear necessary to relieve a critical classroom shortage which has caused overcrowded conditions at Tahoe Lake School and Truckee Elementary.

According to John Corbin, superintendent of the school district, double class sessions are likely to be scheduled for next fall if the bond election fails. Corbin said every available facility at both schools are now being used for classrooms and administrators have been forced to reduce curriculum so a stronger basic program could be offered.

Rex Anderson, principal at Truckee Elementary, revealed that an unexpected 20 per cent increase in enrollment this year forced him to use the nurse's office at times for audio visual storage, music practice, speech therapy, and for psychological sessions for children with problems. Also he had to use his own office for music practice and the kindergarten room was converted into the library.

Enrollment figures show a total of 560 pupils attending classes this year at the main school building plus a double-session kindergarten, two first grade, a second grade, and a special class for mentally retarded youngsters at the administration building in downtown Truckee.

Specific construction proposals by the school board call for an eight-classroom facility with restrooms, a library, and a music room, costing an estimated $351,336.

At the Tahoe Lake School in Tahoe City fall enrollment figures show 612 students had to be crowded into 19 classrooms, with a double-session kindergarten in operation each day. School officials point out that the optimum class size is below 30 pupils and many of Tahoe Lake presently exceed that number. Plans for double sessions for many grades are now being discussed in light of the increasing resident growth rate in the area.

To relieve this critical condition which directly affects the quality of education received by the children school trustees propose to build a new elementary school near Timberland. The new school will have eight classrooms, a kindergarten room, an office unit, library, kitchen complex, regulation sized gym - multipurpose room with music and stage areas, and playgrounds and equipment, costing the district about $762,863.

Corbin explained that the new school is necessary because class size in the kindergarten and primary grades is regulated by the California Education Code and Tahoe Lake has reached the maximum allowable limit but school population is expected to increase yearly by over 60 students.

What will these needed school projects cost the district taxpayers? Figures show the two per cent hike in interest on the bonds would cost the average resident owning a home appraised at $15,000 about $1.13 per year. In 1963 voters approved the sale of $2,760,000 worth of bonds at five per cent interest which taxed them $5.62 yearly and now the seven per cent rate on the unsold $1 million would cost residents about $6.75, an increase of $1.13 per year. For each additional $5,000 of appraised valuation 38 cents would be added to a resident's tax bill.

School board trustees are also at work on a five-year growth study using a conservative ten per cent student enrollment increase each year. Projections to 1975 indicate nine additional classrooms will be needed for the Kings Beach community. A new elementary school identical to the Rideout School could be built on property in Kingswood for about $700,000, the study said.

Improvements needed within a few years for Tahoe-Truckee High School include a combination auditorium and music room, more classrooms, enlarged cafeteria facilities, a nurse's room, a bigger library, redesigned counseling areas, a girl's gymnasium, enlarged and redesigned locker rooms, and an athletic field house. The study also indicated that a new high school at the lake may be needed in the future if the area's high rate of growth continues. Trustees added that another bond election would probably be necessary within a few years to provide the required building funds.

Local Girl Scout Units Mark Successful Year

The Truckee-Tahoe Girl Scouts are looking back now on a very active and productive 1969 and going ahead with plans for a busy 1970.

Neighborhood chairman Pat Sutton of Truckee and neighborhood publicity chairman Markey Williamson of Tahoe City announced this week that more than 300 Girl Scouts are participating in the scouting program with many volunteer leaders spending much time and effort on the program.

In Tahoe City there are four Brownie troops including a new one in Squaw Valley with leaders Jane Fiedler and Dottie Preus coordinating activities; troop No. 53 is led by Macie Smith and Joan Bryan while Roselynn Bullard and Jean Hafner are leaders of troop No. 130; Roxanna Shaheen and Donna Ernsdorf are leaders of No. 163. There are two junior troops in Tahoe City - No. 120 led by Mary Gruver, Pat Harder, Barbara Kearns and Markey Williams and No. 172 with leaders Barbara Schlumpf, Marguerite Shaw and Sharon Wofford. Cadet Troop No. 161 has Peggy Adams as their leader.

Truckee has two Brownie troops, No. 74 led by Betty Jo Smith, Adele de Ryk and Janelle Sassarini, and No. 101 with volunteers Barbara Harlabakis, Dorothy Waters and Linda Borges. Their junior troop No. 116 is led by Nancy Crose and Clare Aguera and Cadette troop No. 62 with Muriel Wiser and Kitty Money leading.

There are two Brownie troops in Kings Beach, No. 214 with leaders Pat Edwards and Kathy Reich and No. 42 with Hilday Soule and Carol Dobbs leading. Leaders for their Junior troop No. 124 are Mary Ann Burt and Diane Clark.

Part of the Truckee-Tahoe neighborhood are the two troops at Incline Village with Brownie troop No. 82 being led by Lois McRice and Nadine Mastin, and Junior troop No. 17 led by Pat Kellogg, Marilyn Steinmayer and Vivian Kisiluk.

All of the troops were involved in a variety of Christmas service projects and parties. Watch in the very near future for the annual Girl Scout cookie sale dates. The cookies are not only a worthwhile money-raising project, they're delicious!

INHALATION THERAPY OFFERED – Tahoe Forest Hospital now has a complete inhalation therapy service available to detect and treat lung disease, for post-operative breathing problems, heart attack patients, resucitation, and out-patient lung care. Shown trying out the new equipment is Carol Brown, director of nurses, while therapist Robert Tilton, Dr. Robert Masters, chief of staff, and Arnold Intorf, hospital administrator, look on. —Sun Photo.

SUNBEAMS

By WALTER M. BARRETT

Environmental pollution ranks high among the national and community problems facing the country in the coming decade along with taxes, the Vietnam war, civil disorders, campus rioting and illegal narcotics.

It seems that unless something is done, pollution may eliminate the other problems by making them unimportant in comparison.

For many years experts in the field have continuously warned of the drastic effects of air and water contamination but it was not until the astronauts went out of the thin atmosphere surrounding the earth that scientists and the general public became alarmingly aware of the situation.

It is said that when this earth's atmosphere is filled there is no place for the ever-increasing pollutants to go and that the air, which we must breath to live, will become intolerable.

So, we live in the mountains where the air is sweet and pure. But is it? What tests have been made to prove this?

We know that there are few days, in the Truckee area, for example, when the town is not shrouded by a dense covering of smoke and haze, viewed from Donner Summit, only a few miles distant. This is caused by the sawmills, trash burning, and pollutants which fill the air. This is tupical of most small towns throughout the country.

We know that many metropolitan communities are currently actually alarmed by the constantly increasing poisons which are filling the air and even the smaller cities and towns are feeling the effects of pollution.

But what steps are being taken to eliminate this death-dealing problem? Politicians give the matter a lot of promise, design laws to curb the danger, automobile builders are being forced to install smog devices which may or may not be effective, open burning, especially by farmers clearing land and families with incinerators, is frowned upon, but huge mills and other manufacturing plants, for the most part, continue to contaminate the atmosphere, contending that the devices they have eliminate any danger from the smoke they create.

Some day, maybe before it's too late, something will be done to bring an end to the trouble we all face, but in our opinion, if we are to believe the experts, this something better come soon.

Historic Guide To Truckee-Tahoe Area

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 17th in a series of excerpts taken from "Edwards' Tourist Guide and Directory of the Truckee Basin," published in 1883 by W.F. Edwards, former editor of the Truckee Republican.)

But for its milling and brewing interests, its tremendous water power, its continguity to immense pine forests, Boca would be if anything at all, an insignificant little hamlet on the line of the Central Pacific Railroad.

But its wonderful water power, its mountain heights covered with heavy pine and fir lumber, attracted attention of the Boca Mill Company in 1866 and with the foresight that always characterizes the men of business they saw the opportunity and set out at once in the construction of a mill, rude at first, getting its power from the waters of the Little Truckee, which rising in Webber and Independence Lakes forms a small river 15 miles long and empties into the Truckee proper at Boca.

The firm then comprised Jas. Akin, L.E. Doan and D.D. Whitbeck, and from the little sawmill built by them has grown the present company with a capital of a quarter of a million dollars, consuming yearly vast quantities of logs, ripping them into lumber of all sizes and dimensions and now making a specialty of planed and dressed lumber, moldings, pickets and not content, still progressing, adding all modern machinery and ranking among the leading industries of the county.

With the increased business and additional capital, a new headquarters was demanded and now the general office is in Sacramento, there remaining at Boca a superintendent and accountant and the men employed in the mill, yards and forest. D.D. Whitbeck's office is at Boca.

Hardly had these pioneers of industry began to make the woods ring with the sound of their axes and the hill tops about Boca to re-echo the whirr of their saws, when a new enterprise sprang up which was destined to make the name of Boca known throughout the world.

To the residents of any of the Pacific states or towns, Boca is as well known as their own names. Twenty-five to 30 thousand barrels of beer go from there annually to be consumed throughout the length and breadth of the United States.

The two great desideratums for the manufacture of superior beer exist at Boca and are produced at trifling expense. Pure spring water comes from the mountain tops in abundance and furnished the staple and necessary article absolute purity, the winter season produces, and is gathered at trifling expense, the second positive requirement for successful brewing. Ice in its magnificense and without limit to quantity is here and the Brewing Company have provided for its gathering and storing.

Over 80,000 tons have been put away this season for their individual use and at an actual cost of about 30 cents a ton.

No longer a child among other breweries, it has taken its place in the front rank and promises some day to lead the van in quantity as it does now in quality. The reasons for this are obvious and while this is not a history of the art of making beer, still as the location has all to do with it, it seems proper to give one all sufficient reason why Boca beer holds its standard of excellence, and will continue to do so.

Beer to attain the height of perfection must have certain age. The old saying that wine improves with age does not necessarily hold good with beer. Perfect beer should be drank at an age of about six months. At that age, if it has been properly brewed and correctly cared for it is at its highest point of excellence.

In the Boca brewery, located as it is, the beer must of necessity be carefully brewed and properly kept. In cities where local trade is large, a green brewing can be delivered to customers but when it has to be shipped and no telling how long before it will be used, it must be kept up to the standard. No beer is ever sold from the Boca brewery until five months old.

To See Movies At Historical Society Meet

The Truckee-Donner Historical Society will show two films, "Age of the Buffalo," and "The Stagecoach," at their regular meeting in the Nevada County building, Truckee, January 15 beginning at 8 p.m.

Also Charles Fisk of the Tahoe Sierra School will show slides of a recent trip to the Anza-Borrega Desert State Park, Joshua Tree, and Salton Sea areas.

He will photographically explore the famous Butterfield Trail, or the "Southern Emigrant Trail," which later became the first road into California.

First Bi-State Agency Meeting Set In March

California-Nevada Tahoe Regional Planning Agency will hold its first official meeting March 18, "if everything goes as scheduled," it was announced Wednesday at a meeting of the Technical Advisory Committee (TAC) of the California Tahoe Regional Planning Agency by Mel Beverly, CTRPA executive officer pro-tem.

TAC and the Advisory Planning Commission of the Nevada Tahoe Regional Planning Agency will hold a joint meeting March 4.

Beverly also announced that executive officers of the bi-state agency will be named in two weeks.

In business conducted by TAC, the Martin Brothers' plan to construct a 660-site campground in El Dorado County just outside the South Lake Tahoe city limits was unanimously re-approved.

The first phase of the project was originally approved by TAC and referred back to the agency. At its last meeting, agency members voted 2-2 to deny the Martin Brothers' application.

Dissenting votes were cast by Chairman J. Allen Bray and Norman B. (Ike) Livermore, who said they felt there should be a dedication of open space in the plan.

TAC approved the development initially with the conditions that it would be subject to review in the fall, underground utilities would be included and other requirements be filled.

After unanimously approving the application a second time, TAC is sending the recommendation back to the agency with six additional requirements.

In addition to the original requirements, TAC suggests that rezoning the property from agricultural to agricultural estate would not enhance the value, there is a need for this type of facility at Lake Tahoe, if the project is not done privately then public funds should be used, the land could be rezoned by the county because there is no land conservation agreement on it, the development does not violate agency goals, and the rezoning will not violate the density called for in the agency's interim general plan.

Study Regional Plan Idea

A sample resolution by which a regional planning district would be formed was submitted to Nevada county's supervisors Tuesday.

The planning district would embrace four Sierra mountain counties-Nevada, Sierra, Placer and El Dorado - the same four that belong to the relatively new Sierra Economic Development District.

The prime purpose of forming this new unit, as explained at a meeting last month, would be to keep the mountain counties together in regional activities and not put them with more populous valley counties that might dominate a regional setup.

At the December meeting, attended by supervisors from all four counties, Placer Executive Officer J. E. Williams was instructed to draft a proposed resolution of intention to form such a district.

He submitted his draft to each board this week, and for starters, came up with the cumbersome title "Sierra Multipurpose Planning and Development Dist," or SMPDD for short.

The proposed resolution expresses this intent in forming a district:

"To coordinate, consolidate and otherwise combine into one single district agency as many of the existing regional and area planning and development functions as can legally be accomplished at the present time, including but not limited to land use planning, comprehensive health planning, transportation planning, economic and social planning, law enforcement planning etc."

At present Nevada county belongs to different groupings of counties for studies of different problems. The proposed regional setup would bring all possible overlapping functions under that one umbrella.

The counties feel an urgency to move in this direction because the state is pushing for regional planning arrangements and the mountain counties want to make their own arrangement before being forced into some agency they don't want. The "whereas" clauses in the proposed resolution spells out those points:

- The four counties "realize they have joint and similar development problems as well as many other similarities not common to metropolitan regions.

- "The trend throughout our state and the United States has been to form, join or be blanketed into growing numbers of single-purpose planning areas and districts with uncommon boundaries."

- The four counties "already recognize the many mutual advantages of working cooperatively with neighboring counties in Sierra Economic Development District."

- And the four counties "object to the proliferation of single-purpose planning and development agencies when we can utilize the existing organization of four counties to accomplish a multi-purpose function."

The supervisors decided to take some time to study the proposal, but because of a state request for comments by Jan. 13, also decided to draft a policy immediately about regional operations.

The local board will tell the state that if Nevada county must be involved with regional planning, the supervisors feel the four counties involved in this proposal would make the best arrangement.

The board also will stipulate that it wants any such regional group to be controlled by the counties involved.

Truckee Tales

By BETTY KIELHOFER

Very dull news week. I think everyone laid low and rested up. All I know is that it was so cold the first part of last week that I saw a dog frozen to a fireplug!

Had two lovely young ladies as house guests from San Francisco this weekend. It's kind of refreshing to have girls around instead of boys as we've always had a house full of those creatures. They just had to have a break from the big city, which seems to be what we are hearing more all the time.

Sam and Marilyn gave us the pleasure of their company for dinner on Sunday eve. They needed a break from Reno.

My brother Jack called to say he won't be making that trip to Tahiti after all. Seems the picture is being delayed until spring and then will be made in the Bahamas instead so he will just loll around with some of our kinfolk in Long Beach for awhile. He taunted me by saying he was running around in his shirtsleeves beneath the palms. No smog there right now, but L. A. is miserable.

Saw an article in the Bee last week stating the Truckee-Tahoe Airport board is taking under consideration the possibility of allowing tests for the Tahoe sewer problem on their property. This hardly seems fair to the adjoining property owners since they have refused these tests on their land. We all know the effluent wouldn't be placed on the district's holdings so it occurs to be a direct slap in the face.

Mrs. Woolverton called to say these are her feelings and she intends to bring them out. This same article stated there were seven sites in the valley under consideration, three of which the district could block if they feel it is likely to cause a fog hazard for aircraft. This still means only one thing to many of us. Open ponds! If we are going to have open meetings to discuss this problem, let's get them under way and stop dallying. We'll never solve the problem by sneaking around keeping these plans secret. Mr. McLaren stated at the last public meeting that we would be informed of all future proceedings but no one told us of this recent proposal to the airport board. How about it?

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Proponents of Martis Valley as a disposal site for Plan B sewage effluent appeared before the airport district board of directors at their regular meeting Tuesday, Jan. 6. Their appearance was scheduled on the agenda. They asked permission to drill several test holes on airport district land. The board took the request "under advisement," meaning that no decision was given, and stated that their investigation of the matter would include asking the FAA what they thought of it. The airport district board reaffirmed their stand against open ponds, spraying, trenching, or any other method of effluent) disposal that might result in increased advection fog or other hazards to navigation. In addition, there is little possibility of the FAA approving that kind of condition.)

Heard Winnie Edmunds had an accident and is hospitalized here. I was very sad to know this and sincerely hope she will be recovered shortly. I know she must be sorely missed on her job as secretary to Gordon Reddall.

Just about everyone is running around with a cold these days and it might be well to know that in many cases, they have pneumonia but just aren't aware of it. If yours is hanging on for a week or more, better see your doctor 'cause they state you just can't cure it by yourself.

Well, another blue, rainy Monday today. Poor ski resorts! Cheer up, though. It just can't last forever. Hope to have more and better news next week.

Park District Makes Headway Despite Weather Handicaps

By GARY BUSCOMBE
Sun Staff Writer

Dr. Henry Tapia, superintendent for the Truckee – Donner Recreation and Park District, last week received a telegram from Congressman Harold T. (Bizz) Johnson informing him of the approval of a $10,000 grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The funds are earmarked for use at the Truckee River Regional Park and grant terms were approved under HUD's open space land program.

That park, obtained on low cost long–term leases from the Truckee–Donner Public Utility District, Truckee Sanitary District, and Sierra Pacific Power, was once the unsightly location of the town dump. It now boasts baseball diamonds, playgrounds, picnic areas, an ice–skating rink, restrooms, a rodeo arena, a large maintenence building, barbeques, three spring–fed lakes, and even an authentic Indian ceremonial circle of stone.

Plans for the $1 million master–planned project for the next five years call for 26 campsites along the riverbank, tennis courts, a community building, Olympic–sized swimming pool and separate diving pool, octagonal shelters, day and over night youth group camping areas, and more picnicing and parking facilities by the Truckee River. Also the predominantly pine–forested natural park will be planted with several varieties of trees including maple, cedar, dogwood, aspen, cottonwood, giant sequoia, willow, and oak.

At the extreme east end of the sprawling 53–acre park the Truckee–Donner Horsemen's Association last summer cleared an area for horse activities and plan to construct a National Rodeo Association rodeo stadium.

Because bids received for development by contractors were too high by some $20,000 to $40,000, district board directors told Tapia and his two assistants, John Hemier and Charles Tramley, to attempt the development work themselves. During the summer months the three completed underground installation of sewer, water, electrical and sprinkler systems with some assistance from local contractors.

Although park districts traditionally are primarily tax–supported agencies, Dr. Tapia has spent only $20,000 of district money for the riverside park of a total of $67,013 spent to date.

This was accomplished through application for state and federal grants and from outright donation of land. Last year Dr. Tapia somehow convinced the Nevada County Recreation Commission, the Board of Supervisors and Governor Reagan that the local park district deserved 50 per cent of the $75,000 allocated to Nevada County for recreational purposes from the state. With this $37,500 and the district's $20,000, Dr. Tapia applied for and was granted a matching $57,500 federal grant. In addition to these, the Small Crafts and Harbors agency of California granted the district $50,000 for shoreline development of Donner Lake which includes a complete boat launching facility and pier construction and repair.

Other smaller neighborhood parks completed or under construction are Floriston Park, a parcel of land donated by Preston Wright; Bill Rose Memorial Park, donated by Dick Joseph; and Gateway Park, a two–acre site acquired in the leasing of the Truckee River Regional Park land.

Also Dr. Tapia is now negotiating for a suitable park site for the community of Soda Springs.

In addition to providing parks and recreational facilities for the community, the TDRPD also sponsors a complete schedule of recreational activities for both children and adults throughout the year.

During the summer Dr. Tapia and a team of assistant directors from Sierra College supervise art classes, hikes, sewing lessons, tennis matches, ice skating at Blyth Arena, woodshop instruction, campouts at Jackson Meadows, horseback riding, field trips to Sacramento and San Francisco, bike rodeos, pet shows, a day at Lake Tahoe, a swimming and fishing day at Donner Lake, and movies. The college–age helpers earn 3 units of college credit in Recreation 25 from Sierra College for their efforts.

For the adults a 16–team basketball league is now practicing at the Tahoe–Truckee High School gym for their opening games with the season ending in a "Gold Ball" tournament. Also on Monday and Wednesday evenings the district sponsors athletic activities in the high school gym enabling housewives and tired husbands to unwind in a spirited volleyball match. For the ladies, a "slim–trim" exercise course will begin in March, and on January 22 a cake decorating class will commence.

"The district's job, I feel," said Dr. Tapia, "is to provide recreation for both locals and visitors alike, and needed recreational facilities for the area which is normally provided by private enterprise."

Crash Hurts Six Persons

SQUAW VALLEY - Six persons were injured early Saturday in a three-vehicle accident on Highway 89, south of Squaw Valley Road, according to California Highway Patrol.

CHP said the mishap occurred when a northbound vehicle driven by Jack Champagne, 26, Southfield, Mich., an employe at Olympic Village Hotel here, spun out of control on the snow-slicked road and struck headon a southbound vehicle driven by Thomas Macango, 25, Palo Alto.

Shortly after, another southbound auto, driven by John McFarland, 37, San Rafael, rounded a curve and struck the other two vehicles, CHP said. The first two vehicles were without lights when the second crash took place, CHP reported.

Taken to Tahoe-Forest Hospital at Truckee were Macango, and two passengers, Leslie Mcango, 23, and Laurie Susinetti, 22, both of Palo Alto.

Doctors said the Susinetti woman sustained head injureies; Mrs. Macango, chest injuries; and Macango, severe chest and head injuries.

CHP said Champagne and his passengers, John Scoriak, 21, and Davy Larson, 23, both of Squaw Valley, were treated by their doctors.

CHP reports indicated chain controls were in effect, but Champagne's vehicle was without chains.

LAKES AWAIT SPRING THAW – John Hemler, maintenance man for the Truckee–Donner Recreation and Park District, points out expected water level of three dry lakes just completed at the Truckee River Regional Park to Dr. Henry Tapia, district superintendent. Melting snows and a nearby spring will provide enough water for fishing, fly–casting, and sailing of model boats by children. Each lake is spanned by a arching bridge. –Sun Photo.

Tourist Centers Are Sought By Nevada County Chamber

Nevada County Chamber of Commerce directors Tuesday decided to try to establish a tourist information center in the Gold Cities area. The tourist center would be open seven days a week.

The action was in line with an executive committee recommendation that such a center be established, preferably near an on and off ramp of the freeway. The recommendation emphasized that the chamber is concerned with the total county tourist picture and that it is imperative that plans for a Truckee area tourist center included a May 30 target date and directed John Gallegos, executive-director, to continue a feasibility study. The executive committee recommendation suggested that the operation should be carried on from the first weekend of spring through the summer of 1970 then continuing through the year if it is workable.

The executive committee recommended formation of a committee consisting of various individuals and groups which would assist the chamber in acquiring needed funds, to finance the project.

In other action Tuesday the chamber turned down a proposal to assist financially in establishing a proposed Polytechic Institute of Technology in this county. Downey Clinch headed a committee to investigate the advisability of the request made by Orville Cain, vice president of the board of directors of the proposed facility. Clinch told chamber directors that his committee's findings showed that the chamber is not in a position to give assistance at this time.

- Gallegos was directed to write letters of appreciation for the new freeway to The State Division of Highways and Granite Construction Co.

- Chamber participation in the San Francisco Sports and Boat Show slated to open Friday was discussed with several directors indicating they will work in the county booth or visit the exposition.

- An ad for Sunset Magazine which will invite readers to plan spring vacations in Nevada County was approved.

Monoxide Caused Death At Tahoe

An autopsy has disclosed that David A. Yontz, 30, of San Francisco, whose body was found in a Lake Tahoe cabin on Saturday, died of accidental carbon monoxide poisoning.

Coroner's deputies said the victim apparently died in his sleep as the carbon monoxide from a faulty gas heater built up in one room of the cabin at Tahoe Park. He had been on a skiing vacation with friends.

Forming New Art Group

Persons interested in forming an art group for the North Tahoe area are urged to attend a meeting January 29 at 10 a.m. at the Tahoe City Community Center.

If the art group is organized tentative goals would include group and individual art shows, workshops, speaker's forums, and other art events.

Interested persons should call 583-3287 for more information.

Last Friday afternoon the Tahoe-Truckee Wolverines faced the Colusa Redskins at Sierra Junior College. As Friday was a minimum day at school, the J.V. game began at 3:30. A rooter's bus of eager students cheered the team on, but they were defeated, 63 to 55. Then the mighty varsity played and proceeded to win, 55 to 45.

Saturday night the Quincy Trojans came to play on Tahoe-Truckee courts and lost to our J.V. 67 to 34. The varsity then put a good twenty points over Quincy, 67 to 47.

Be sure to attend the Tahoe - Truckee-Lincoln game when the Zebras play here this Friday. J.V. will begin at 6:30 and varsity at 8 p.m.

Saturday morning, miserable as it was, the Tahoe - Truckee ski team hosted the first ski meet of the season at Boreal Ridge. Participating in the race were Tahoe - Truckee - Tahoe Sierra - Ponderosa - Portola - El Dorado - Sky Line - Lee Vining - and Placers. Representing the TNT girl's squad were Debby Everson, Pat Northrup, Judy (Clod) Price, Babe Street, and Patty Tilton. For the boy's squad there was Randy Austin, Russell Brett, Scott Hawkins, David Kahn, and John Schoville.

Placement for individual girl racers showed Babe Street in first, Debby Everson in third, Patty Tilton in fourth, and Pat Northrup in fifth. Boy's placement was Russell Brett in first, John Schoville in fourth, Randy Austin in tenth, and David Kahn in twelfth. Overall girls' placing was Tahoe - Truckee first, Sky Line second, and Lee Vining third. Overall boy's placing showed Portoal first, Lee Vining second, and Tahoe - Truckee third. Final school rating was Tahoe - Truckee first, Lee Vining second, Sky Line third, Portoal fourth, and El Dorado fifth. Congratulations to all of you! Be sure to hold a good thought this Saturday as the team travels to Tahoe Ski Bowl.

Thursday during sixth period, student council met with Mr. Maas as advisor. It was announced that anyone wishing to file for the office of student body secretary should turn their petition in to Larry Doyle, as Laura Hoxsie is graduating at semester. It was approved to pay the fees for the wrestling team to participate in the Quincy wrestling tournament.

This Friday the Girl's League with advisor Mrs. Corley will have a tea. This is to be in honor of the senior girls who are graduating at semester. Seventh period is the scheduled time.

Due to weather conditions, the Alpine ski program was canceled last Friday. Hopefully things will improve so as to hold it this week. Bring your dollar and plan on some good skiing!

And birthday wishes go to Bill Kinzie, star basketball player, on his (can you believe it?) eighteenth birthday, this Saturday. Don't over do it, Bill!!!

News From Floriston

By JUDY BARBEN

December 20th was the thirty-sixth wedding anniversary of Ray and Theresa Yurich, long time residents of Floriston. They were the honored guests of Ray Smith of Harold's Club, Reno.

Also celebrating an anniversary was Ed and Lucille Kubista. Their daughter Charlotte of Kanai, Hawaii, remembered their thirty-second with two orchid leis flown from the islands. Congratulations to both sets of "still-are-weds"!

Guests of the Ralph Balls over the New Years holidays were Mercedes two sisters; Mrs. Maravec of Olinda, and Mrs. Croak of Sparks, and both their families.

The Mark Howards of Spruce street had frozen water lines this past week and were forced to dig up the middle of the road to defrost the pipes. Winter is really here!

The Floriston Property Owners Association at a meeting held Jan. 6 passed a resolution to charge $50 for sewer and $50 for water hookups on any property now without these facilities. This would pertain to vacant lots and those persons wishing to build on them. Other business included the paying of bills.

Add Two Placer Planning Posts

The board of supervisors voted this week to add two new positions in the Placer County Planning Department, a move which will increase the unit's payroll by approximately $17,000 a year.

The board acted on the request of Planning Director R. M. Heikka, who said the new positions - planning technicians - will allow the remainder of his staff to concentrate their efforts on the department's varied concerns including zoning, use permits and public recreation.

Heikka suggested that part of the payroll jump be met by increasing zoning and subsivision application fees. The board took this under study.

Snow Talk

By VI and CARSON WHITE

"Let's Go Skiing" and Let's Make Skiing Go are the thoughts for National Ski Week that kicks off Friday. Ski areas are having special events during that time, January 16 to 25.

The annual Miss Sierra Snowflake Ball will be held at the Nevada Lodge in the Topaz Room Friday night. North Tahoe Chamber president Gardner Mein has announced the following girls as candidates: Jo Burris, Karla Meixner, Kristna St. George, Barbara Randol, Mary McCaffery, Sharon Roberts, Debbie Rich, Cindy Hiatt, Cindy Benson, Liz Brazet, Michele Sayre, Cathy Fields, Nancy Millspaugh and Lynn Aro. A difficult decision will be made by the judges that night to pick Miss Sierra Snowfalke from such a list of beautiful girls.

Tickets for the Snoball are $6.50 each and it's best to make reservations ahead for this popular social event of the ski season. Call 583-3461 to hold seats. A number of valuable prizes will be given away plus the buffet dinner. Plan to attend.

Wet snow fell during most of last weekend and strong winds made visability poor for numerous racing events, but unsung heros of the race course stuck it out. Gate keepers and top and bottom officials had a rough time of it.

The Vet's race at Slide Mountain on the Silver Dollar Hill was a giant slalom with 27 gates. Mark Magney of Nevada had the fastest time of the event, heading all the class I men with a time of 51.19. Mark is ski coach at Nevada U.

Mike Foley, Nevada, placed first in class I with 51.60; Rich Swendsen, Squaw Valley, 2nd, 51.79; Andre Armand, S.F., 3rd, 52.80.

Mark Magney, Nevada, 1st Class II, 51.19; 2nd, Darrel Williams, Donner, 52.62; 3rd, Buzz Mandevile, Lake Tahoe, 53.75.

Class III, Robert Campbell, Bear Valley, 52.04; Harry Peterson, S. F., 56.77; Don "Snoshoe" Thompson, Reno 51.69.

Class IV, George Buchanan, Mt. Rose, 58.08; Fred Redelsberger, Bear Valley, 61.84; Howard Wolf, Berkeley, 64.19.

At Mammoth Mountain, 125 Class B juniors braved the storms and ran the Downhill there. Results: Saturday Boys, Dennis Water, Heavenly Valley, 1.11; Chuck Woessner, Yosemite, 1:12; Jan Frier, Heavenly Valley, 1:12.4. Girls, Janet Baker, Mt. Rose, 1:16; Zale Young, Squaw Valley, 1:20; Jannett Bagley, Yosemite, 1:21; Wendy Ross, Mogul Ski Club, Squaw Valley, 1:21.6. Sunday, boys, Dennis Water, 1:12; James Frier, Heavenly Valley, 1:13; Steve Phalen, Reno, 1:14; Brad Ross, 1:14.5. Girls, Janet Baker, 1:19; Cathy Cadel, Shasta, 1:20; Wendy Ross, 1:20.5, and Sue Brown, Lake Tahoe, 1:21.

Local skier on the U.S. Ski Team, Eric Poulson of Olympic Valley, took 8th position in the Lauberhorn Classic in Switzerland in the special slalom. The event was won by Patrick Russel of the French Alpine ski team with a time of 1:49.55, followed by Dumeng Giovanoli of Switzerland in the special slalom. The event was won by Patrick Russel of the French Alpine ski team with a time of 1:49.55, followed by Dumeng Giovanoli of Switzerland, 50.56. Billy Kidd of the U.S. was 6th with a time of 1:51.66 and Rich Chaffee of Vermont was 9th in 1:51.01.

France's Henri Duvillard won the downhill Saturday and took the combined trophy, Austria's Karl Schranz was disqualified for missing a gate in the second run of the slalom Billy Kidd had a slow second run because he wanted to finish that race without being disqualified, as he so often is.

Jean – Claude Killy's Challenge Series being filmed for showing on TV later this season was plagued by poor snow conditions and visability while here at Squaw last week, is now at Heavenly Valley, but plans to return to the 1960 Winter Olympics site Thursday to a slalom race against Cathy Nagel. He lost the giant slalom to her last Wednesday, but hopes to defeat her for the $10,000 prize money tomorrow if all goes well.

There have been so many requests for another "Down the Summit" run on old highway 40 from Donner Summit to Donner Lake, that Truckee – Donner Chamber of Commerce president Carl Briggs is organizing one during Spring Carnival time at Easter Week. Of course it all depends upon snow and weather conditions, a decision will be made the afternoon before the torchlight run.

Truckee's skiing dentist, Dr. Robert Affeldt, his wife JoAnn and children, spent a delightful time skiing at Taos, New Mexico, before Christmas and found the whole area charming. The Hopi Indian land of pueblos is such a far cry from usual ski resort atmosphere, it is a interesting place to visit. Many of the runs are very steep, but there are intermediate trails too.

Bad Weather And Visibility Cause Killy Cancellation

Bad weather and poor visibility cancelled the "Killy Challange" race at the halfway mark Thursday at Squaw Valley.

French Olympic champion Jean Claude Killy met Cathy Nagel, U. S. Olympian, in the giant slalom. Miss Nagel won the event when Killy lost one ski during the race.

Killy will again race the U. S. Olympian January 15 in the slalom at Squaw, weather permitting.

Miss Nagel has a 3.8 second handicap. "Killy Challenge" races are based on a handicap system. Each race is filmed for use on Killy's television series to be televised starting Feb. 1.

United Air Lines has offered any contender who beats Killy in both the giant slalom and slalom $10,000. Cathy Nagel must win the slalom event to collect the money.

So far, Killy has lost no "Killy Challenge" races. His friends describe him as "a quiet, nice person who believes in winning."

Killy, an attractive bachelor, won three gold medals - in the downhill race giant slalom, and slalom - at the 1968 Winter Olympics at Grenoble, France. The only other man to sweep all three was Tony Sailer in 1956.

GIRL'S DAY AT BOREAL-TNT skier Debbie Everson captured third place individual win, and overall girl placement saw the local girls earning first place. Individual boy's standings were: Russell Brett, first; John Scoville, fourth; Randy Austin; tenth; and David Kahn, twelfth. Next meet is January 17 at the Tahoe Ski Bowl. - Sun Photo

TNT SKIERS COMPETE - The Tahoe-Truckee High School ski team began the racing season with a good start with a first place win at the Boreal Ridge Ski Meet Saturday. Truckee skier Ruth Street also placed first in the girl's division and Russell Brett captured the boy's division first place award. Overall girl's standings saw Truckee again in first place with Debby Everson, Patti Tilton, and Pat Northrup winning third, fourth, and fifth places respectively in the individual standings. TNT Varsity Wins Opener

Varsity Wolverine basketball players won their first Pioneer league match Friday against Colusa, 55-43, and also defeated Quincy Saturday 61-45.

According to coach Joe de Arrieta the team's zone defense proved weak in the Colusa contest so the cage squad switched to man-to-man defense.

Frosh Win Too

A combination of accurate shooting and controlling the defensive boards proved to be the winning edge for the Truckee freshmen cagers Thursday when they met and defeated South Tahoe 44-28.

The junior hoopsters shot about 40 per cent from the floor and Jim Davidson led the team in scoring with 16 points. Teammate Jim Crippen added 12 points to the final score.

Mike Kornazewich was top rebounder with eight snatches with Andy Plumbridge and Rick Purcer having seven and six respectively.

The next freshman cage match is set for January 16 at 4 p.m. against Lincoln in the Truckee court.

A balanced scoring attack by the Wolverines led to an easy win over Quincy in the non-conference contest. Bill Kinzie paced the visiting Truckee squad with 20 points, de Arrieta said.

On January 16 the Wolverines will meet Lincoln in another league game in the Truckee high school gym.

Sierra Drops 2 League Games

A failure to play good basketball in the second half of play accounted for two loses for the Sierra College Wolverines during the opening weekend of Golden Valley Conference play.

The Wolverines fell from a 32-26 halftime deficit Friday evening to lose to the College of Redwoods Corsairs, 71-53, and then pulled the same kind of shenanigans Saturday by dropping a 69-52 decision to Shasta College after trailing by four, 29-25, at the half.

Redwoods fired 65 per cent of its shots through the hoop on Friday, 28 of 42 while the Wolverines could only hit on 18 of 67.

Pete Rusher led the Corsairs with 19 points before leaving the game with moments remaining when he dislocated a finger on his shooting hand. Tom Pendergrass added 18 points for the sharp-shooting visitors.

Ron Childs was the only Wolverine in double figures with 13 points. Sierra pulled within four points of the Corsairs moments into the second half, but a couple of baskets by Rusher erased any threat.

Three players hit in the double figures Saturday as the Knights handed Sierra its second straight GVC loss. Dan Riley topped the scorers with 22 points. Buck Jones added 18 and Steve Paulissen 15 for the Knights.

Sierra's sophomore guard Ralph Rick was tops for the hosts with 18 points on eight field goals and two free tosses.

Sierra will be at Yuba College Friday (Jan. 16) and home against Butte College Saturday (Jan. 17). Both games begin at 8 p.m.

North Lake Tahoe Chamber Pot Shots

By BETTY LAYTON

Attendance at the San Francisco Sport and Boat Show on Friday was 27,000 and on Saturday over 60,000. When its aisle-to-aisle people, like on Saturday, it is impossible to talk to many personally but you do reach those interested in gathering information for a vacation. It was impressive this year to see so many county booths of promotion – much better than the State Fair because the displays aren't as formal and they are more functional and operational. This year Placer County is sharing a counter with Nevada County, and Ray Huston of Squaw Valley is there pushing Ski Tahoe North promotional information.

Are you ready for the unpredictable? San Francisco's Paul Speegle who was to be the M.C. at the Snowball, cancelled the last minute for the second year in a row. However, this year a talented guy has agreed to pinch-hit and he has been Master of Ceremony at over 600 benefits, banquets, talent shows, testimonials, etc. so the assignment will not be new to him and he will do an exceptional job for us. His name is Danny Marvin and he is from Southern California. Of course most people do not attend to merely here the Master of Ceremony, but it does help to have a talented individual before the audience leading the procedure. Thanks to last-minute manipulating we will have one. It is not too late to make your reservations for the Ball.

The Incline chamber office open house was a huge success – not great in number but tops in quality. It was in the middle of the week and the party recovery process from New Years is always slow. It is a start to have a chamber service at Incline which will grow with our effectiveness. The areas at North and West Shores are all promoting the same thing and it makes more sense to pool resources to have one central pivot point. We are getting forces assembled but will need lots of volunteer work as time goes by.

This month the chamber meeting is Thursday, January 15, at Squaw Valley Lodge in the Palm Room upstairs. All members and guests always welcome.

Truckee-Donner Chamber Chatter

By PAT GEARY

The January 7 meeting was held at noon at the Donner Lake Lodge. President Carl Briggs told us that work is progressing on a full color brochure which will soon be available to advertise this area. We were also reminded that the new Skisport Museum at Boreal Ridge still needs material for an exhibit of past winter sport activities in the Donner region. Carson White will be glad to receive such material.

As the Snowmobile races to be held February 7 and 8 at Martis Valley is the Chambers next event, we were given a report by Carl Briggs and Herb Crenshaw about the progress so far. First of all, this is to be a U.S.S.A. sanctioned race, which should make it very much worthwhile to watch. We hope to attract many spectators, and to make their visit more enjoyable there will be two chamber sponsored booths, one a food and coffee and soft drink stand to be run by George's Drive-Inn, and the other a beer and hot wine bar. Depending upon the weather, this could be a popular concession. The airport district has agreed to provide us with paved, plowed parking to make attendance more attractive.

Joe Aguera, President of the J.C.'s announced that his organization will sponsor a queen contest to be held the weekend of the Dog Sled Races, March 7 and 8, and possibly also a parade in conjunction with our Winter Carnival. Karen Sayler who is the chairman of this event still needs help, especially on the dog judging contest, which could be a lot of fun for the kids.

Youth Wrestling Program Starts At Sierra College

Sierra College will begin its fifth annual Kid Wrestling program at the college for boys 5-14 years old on Jan. 17, according to Sierra wrestling coach John Horrillo.

The program will be held on six successive Saturdays through February concluding with a tournament on Friday evening, Feb. 27, in the college gymnasium.

The free program will feature the teaching of skills and techniques of wrestling and physical fitness which will give youngsters a valuable background for wrestling and other activities.

Horrillo states that no special insurance is required and that any boy able to do normal outdoor physical activity is eligible for the course.

Boys may wear normal gym type clothes or jeans and a "T" shirt but no rings or buckles should be worn.

Beginners between the ages of 5-8 years will meet at 8:30 - 9:20 a.m. and beginners 9-14 will perform from 9:30 - 10:20 a.m.

Intermediates, boys with three years experience, will wrestle from 10:30 - 11:30 a.m.

The program will be open to boys attending elementary and junior high schools within the Sierra College district. Members of the college wrestling team will assist Horrillo in the program.

Boys competing in the tournament will receive certificates of completion of the course. Interested persons should call Horrillo at the college, 624-3333.

Liberalize Nevada County Food Stamp Purchase Plan

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has liberalized the purchase requirements for the food stamp program, local Welfare Director Eugene Newman reports.

"The Nevada County Department of Public Social Services is moving as rapidly as possible to implement the new purchase requirements by making them available immediately for new applicants and converting the existing caseloads by Feb. 1," he said. Newman added:

"The previous purchase requirements had drawn increasing criticism as being too high to permit a rate of participation adequate to the nutritional needs of the poor."

The new standards will permit eligible households to spend not more than 30 per cent of their income for food stamps and also will enable them to get more stamps for their money. It also sets up the same total amount of stamps for each household of the same size; in other words, all eligible four-person households will receive $106 worth of stamps, but their payments for them will vary according to income.

A person living alone on old age security assistance will - under the new standard - pay $18 for $28 worth of food stamps They have been paying $20 for $26 in stamps.

A two-person household of old age security recipients will pay $36 for $56 in stamps, instead of $40 for $52 in stamps.

A four-member household on aid to families with dependent children, receiving $221 in aid per month, and whose rent for example has been $80, has been required to put up $64 to get $90 worth of food stamps. The new standard will require $54 for $106 in stamps.

Most people who recive public assistance are eligible to purchase food stamps. Many who don't receive public assistance, but who have small incomes, may be eligible. New nonassistance applicants and those on assistance who have not previously purchased food stamps may obtain the first month's purchase at half price.

"This is a real opportunity to stretch your dollars with food stamps," Newman said.

May Form Donner Citizens Patrol

Several property owners at Donner Lake are exploring the possibility of forming a "neighborhood patrol" to assist law enforcement agencies in effecting safety and protection for persons and property in the area.

The idea came about because of frequent and recurring incidents of housebreaking in the Donner region during the winter months. Persons interested in taking part in the program are asked to call Carson White at 587-3866.

Juggling The Books

An Occasional Peripatetic Literary Review

By CARL BRIGGS
Sun Editor

In historical terms, the present and the past are separate and distinct. The present is alive, the past is dead, and never the twain shall meet.

Occasionally, however, circumstances will mysteriously align themselves to effect a bridge across that gap in time by a peculiar combination of people and places and artifacts - a sustaining and animating of the past.

Many of these special circumstances exist at Lake Tahoe, and David J. Stollery, Jr., in his new book, "Tales of Tahoe" (Western Printing & Publishing Co., Sparks, Nevada, $6.50), has managed to perceive and capture them for posterity.

Unfortunately, these bridges are wispy, ethereal things and, like the brilliant rainbows that curve majestically over the lake during summer thunder showers, they are apt to appear and disappear without warning.

The glimpses of "living" history described in this volume will soon disappear from view and become static "dead" history. This, perhaps, represents the greatest value of the book, at least for now, and for that reason alone should be read by all who claim interest, concern, or involvement in the region.

Stollery has been collecting and writing his "Tales" since 1963, and while they have enjoyed limited exposure in a local tabloid, publication in book form will assure the broader circulation and readership which they deserve.

"Tales of Tahoe" is an odd mixture of fact and fancy, history and legend, truth and myth, and while historians might yearn for more fact and mythologists for more legend, the book emerges as an entertaining potpourri.

Stollery has captured the complexities of Tahoe, and many qualities that constitute its inherent magnetism, and he has done so without sacrificing the remote for the sake of the obvious.

Any historian worth his salt leans upon those who have gone before. Stollery has done this with good results, drawing his facts from available sources, but he has accomplished much more than restating knowledge. He has added his own observations and descriptions here and there, effectively updating what might otherwise be considered archaic.

The author's style is simple and easy to read. As a former school teacher, he writes in a manner that all ages can grasp and readily understand.

There are 79 tales, anecdotes, and word pictures of Tahoe and environs. The text is enhanced and enlivened by the capable art work of David J. Stollery, III, the author's son, who is a professional designer.

This book will surely be a welcome addition to the sparse "Tahoe shelf" in your home library.

Placer Water Agency Concerned Over Lawsuit

The Placer County Water Agency voiced concern over millions of dollars in lawsuits connected with the Middle Fork American River Project at a meeting last week.

Agency Director Ray Thompson charged attorneys for McCreary – Koretsky Engineers, an agency consulting firm, is attempting to "discredit him as a member of the agency board and the community." Thompson is one of 16 members of the 1967 Placer County Grand Jury being sued for $6.2 million in a libel action filed by MKE.

Agency member, Robert Radovich, insisted because of Thompson's status in the MKE suit that he not be named to proposed two-man agency liaison committee to represent the agency's interest in the action. Radovich charged Thompson "has a serious conflict of interest" until the grand jury litigation is resolved.

Thompson alleged the agency has not kept faith with the public by not telling them there have been taxes levied to support the agency. Thompson said $431,000 in county money was spent prior to the project, and when the agency returned the funds, the money was placed in the agency general fund and not returned to the county. During this time, the agency general fund and not returned to the county. During this time, the agency director explained, there was a tax rate levied over some three years.

Thompson questioned the use of some $1 million in Davis–Grunsky funds, part of which were used for construction of recreation facilities on the Middle Fork project. He queried whether money is on deposit to pay for the last phase of the project.

The problems of the lawsuits filed most of the discussion of the agency meeting. Radovich, pointing out there are some $50 million in lawsuits filed against the agency by American River Constructors, contractor for the agency project, stated the "suit against the county takes priority over all personal differences, including my own."

Although there was no specific mention by the agency of other suits, a $27 million federal antitrust suit, charging restraint of trade, has been filed against ARC. The action states the contractor, which had a $92.7 million contract to build the upper American River project, monopolized all subcontractors to obtain the only bid.

PTA To Hear Official Of Sierra Club

Richard Sill, board director for the Sierra Club, will speak on the current battle for conservation at Lake Tahoe at the January 19 meeting of the Truckee Elementary PTA, according to Mrs. Carole Donnelly, president.

Sill will also discuss the Granite Chief wilderness area and the Martis Valley.

It was also announced that Boreal Ridge has agreed to participate in the "Ski Friday" program along with Alpine Meadows Ski Area, charging $1.50 for lifts and instruction and 50 cents for rental equipment.

All parents are asked to call one of the numbers listed before noon on Wednesday so a definite count of participating children can be made. The phone numbers are: 587–4156, 587–3759, 587–4078 or 587–3717.

Manslaughter Charge Faced In Car Death

Dist. Atty. James D. Boitano said he will issue a warrant for the arrest of Catarino Garcia, 45, of St. Helena, charging him with felony manslaughter and felony drunken driving.

Garcia was involved in an accident Dec. 25 which claimed the lives of Annette Jo Stevens, 37, and her 9-year-old son Darryl Stevens.

According to highway patrol reports, Garcia was driving a northbound vehicle which veered into the southbound lane on Silverado Trail and collided with a car driven by Wallace L. Stevens, 32, of Truckee.

Patrol Car Set On Fire

A Placer County sheriff's patrol car was set afire early Thursday by a flare placed under the front seat, according to officer reports.

Damage was reported to be about $1,000 to the car's interior. It was learned the officer had left the vehicle for a few minutes at the state line and returned to find it in flames.

Captain Max Bennett said his office has a possible suspect and investigation is continuing.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO NEVADA COUNTY GENERAL PLAN, TROUT CREEK, ALDER CREEK, TRUCKEE.

The Lakeworld Development Company has requested that the Nevada County Planning Commission and the Nevada County Board of Supervisors adopt resolutions amending the Nevada County General Plan to change the area hereinafter described from Multiple Use - Natural Resources Conservation - General Forest Environment to Urban Density Residential to provide for approximately 6,000 lots on 4,000 acres. Said area is described as being all or portions of Section 1, T.17N., R.15E.; Sections 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9, T.17N., R.16E.; and Section 31, T.18N., R.16E., M.D.B. & M., located in the Trout Creek and Alder Creek Basins, northwest of Truckee, Nevada County, California, as shown on the preliminary subdivision development plan on file with the Nevada County Planning Development, Courthouse, Nevada City, California. The Nevada County Planning Commission held a public hearing on the proposed amendment on November 10, 1969, and November 24, 1969, and adopted P.C. Resolution 69-24 approving said amendment.

Notice is hereby given that the Nevada County Board of Supervisors will hold public hearing on the requested amendment in accordance with Section 65355 of the Government Code of the State of California. Said hearing will be held on the 27th day of January, 1970, at 10:15 a.m., in the Supervisors' Room, Courthouse, Nevada City, California. The hearing may be continued from time to time. All interested persons are invited to attend and submit their views in person or in writing addressed to the Honorable Board of Supervisors, County of Nevada, Courthouse, Nevada City, 95959.

West Shore Notes

By ELLEN ATTARDI

The second concert of a series of four of the 1969-70 season of the Lake Tahoe Community Concert Association will be given Friday, January 23, at the Little Theatre of the South Tahoe High School. Many North Tahoe music lovers are members of the associaion and plan on attending this concert which will feature Metropolitan Opera bass - baritone Raymond Michalski.

Other performers of the association will be given Monday, March 16, and Thursday, April 2. The March performance will star The Lee Evans Trio (piano, percussion and bass) and pianist Andree Juliette Brun will appear at the April session.

Junior racers of the Lake Tahoe Ski Club participate in several races to be held this weekend. The Mt. Rose Ski Club will host a giant slalom event January 17 and 18 for A racers. Junior B and C racers will participate in a slalom hosted by the Yosemite Winter Club the 17th and 18th with the Yosemite group also hosting a special event for junior D's and Class IV's and V's on the 18th.

Celebrating her birthdate January 6 was Rosemary Lindsey of Agate Bay.

The Tahoe Forest Hospital Auxiliary is having a very active program of activities with a membership of 85 and a junior registration totalling almost a hundred girls. Maxine Olson of Pineland, is the president of the auxiliary.

The February meeting of the group will be held February 3 at the Lake of the Sky residence of Sue McCafferty and will feature a "country soup dinner." Those present will also participate in a "thing swap."

Bill and Marge Thomasberg and son David and daughter Sandy of Dollar Point much enjoyed their eighteen-day holiday trip to Hawaii where they visited with daughter and husband, Sharon and Ron Park in Waikiki. Sharon is a student at the University of Hawaii where she is majoring in fashion design and drama.

A big thrill for the Thomasbergs was the news that Sharon had been chosen for two walk-on parts in the Hawaii Five-O television series and one of them was filmed while they were there.

Dale Hoagland of the California State Department of Health and Education was the featured speaker at the Tahoe City Optimist Club meeting held last Monday evening at Sunnyside Lodge. Hoagland's topic was "Drug Abuse and Young People."

The Tahoe City Women's Club met last Thursday at a luncheon session at the Tahoe Inn with Marge Thomasberg presiding. The group voted to have Helen Harrington and Anita Melin represent them on their scholarship selection meeting.

The next meeting of the group will be held Thursday, February 5 at the Highland Greens home of Roma Young.

Talented Maxine Olson and her committee are hard at work conceiving and preparing decorations for the 9th Annual Snoball to be held this Friday (January 16) at the Topaz Room of the Nevada Lodge. This North Lake Tahoe Chamber activity is always a beautiful event and Maxine makes a great contribution.

Assisting Mrs. Olson with the decorations are husband Jim, Les Edinburg, Shirley Strahm, Dorothy Lindstrom and daughter Kathy Mockaitis.

The public is cordially invited to attend the ball and the main attraction of the evening will be the selection of the 1970 Miss Sierra Snowflake. Tickets, for a donation of $6.50 per person, may be obtained at the door the night of the party. The buffet dinner is scheduled to start at 6:30 p.m. with the beauty pageant starting at 8:30 p.m.

Study Placer Court System

The Board of Supervisors has requested the California Judicial Council to conduct a study of the court system in Placer County, which would result in recommendations for a municipal court district or consolidation of judicial districts.

The request was suggested by Supervisor J.B. Paolini, who stated the last study was made in the middle 1950s. At that time, he explained, the supervisors followed the council's recommendation to consolidate three justice court districts.

Supervisors pointed out the study will be done at no cost to the county.

Schedule For Coast Skiers

The Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Ski Association has announced their 1970 meet schedule. On January 9, 10, 11 - N.C.I.I., Sugar Bowl and Boreal Ridge (Sierra College); February 6, 7, 8 - Far West, Donner and Boreal Ridge (Chico State College); February 13, 14, 15 - Winter Carnival, Mt. Rose (University of Nevada); March 6, 7, 8 - Pacific Coast Invitational Ski championships, Squaw Valley and Boreal Ridge (Sierra, Nevada, Chico); March 14, 15 - Siskiyou Invitational, Mt. Shasta (College of Siskiyou); and March 26, 27, 28 - University of California Invitational, Mountains (University of California).

Task Force To Study Tahoe Crime Problems

Solutions to crime problems unique to the Lake Tahoe basin will be sought by the 20-man Lake Tahoe Crime Studies Task Force.

Ted Van Syckel, area coordinator for the Sacramento region of the California Council on Criminal Justice, told the council that crime problems peculiar to the Lake Tahoe basin stem from the fluctuations in population due to tourism and gambling.

He said it is the first time such a joint venture into a crime probe had been undertaken by the two states.

One of the problems of the area said Van Syckel is juvenile delinquency resulting from youngsters brought to the lake area by parents who go gambling and leave their children to fend for themselves with a few dollars in their pockets.

Compounding this, he said, is the lack of delinquent juvenile processing facilities in El Dorado and Placer Counties. The task force will attempt to identify and define the major crime problems of the area.

The project is part of the Sacramento Regional Area Planning planning work program for 1960-70.

The commission covers the six county area of Yolo, Sacramento, El Dorado, Placer, Sutter and Yuba Counties. Nevada and Sierra added to these six counties, comprise the council's Sacramento Region.

The first meeting of the task force is planned for later this month in the South Lake Tahoe area.

The group expects to have its report ready by June this year.

The task force members are:

From California - Ray Lauritzen, South Lake Tahoe chief of police; Russell Munger, South Lake Tahoe probation officer; Dick Lowe, captain, El Dorado County Sheriff's office; Anita Vieites, South Lake Tahoe High School; Gerhard I.W. Bahnsen, president, Bahn Fair Co., South Lake Tahoe; Burton K. Root, US probation and parole office, Sacramento; Joe Pelletier, deputy probation officer, Tahoe City; Maxwell Bennett, captain, Placer County Sheriff's office; Judge Robert Frugosi, Tahoe City Justice Court, and the Rev. William Dowling, Lake Tahoe Lutheran Church, Kings Beach.

From Nevada - Assemblyman Lawrence E. Jacobsen, Minden; Jay Hill, chief of security, Harvey's Wagon Wheel, Stateline; Robert Kellerer, lieutenant' Washoe County Sheriff's office, Reno; Mrs. Dorla Kruse, Washoe County Sheriff's office, Incline Village; George Brautovich, undersheriff, Douglas County Sheriff's office, Zephyr Cove.

Frank Sullivan, chief of the Juvenile Office, Washoe County, Reno; Thomas Carrigan, chief, narcotics and dangerous drug division, Carson City; Carl Shaff, Incline Village High School principal; William Wright, Whittell High School principal, Zephyr Cove, and William Furlong, police chief and deputy city marshal, Carson city.

OCS GRADUATE – Second Lieutenant Nedra C. Shorkey, daughter of Leslie J. Shorkey of Tahoe City and Mrs. Nedra Shorkey of Big Bear Lake, was graduated from the Women's Army Corps Officer Candidate Course Dec. 12 at the WAC center at Ft. McClellan, Alabama. During the 18 weeks of training, she was instructed in Army administration, leadership and related subjects, and went to Ft. Benning, Georgia, to observe demonstrations given by the Infantry on Army weapons. She has now become qualified to assume command and staff responsibilities to her rank.

SOFT, WHITE FREEDOM – Sliding down snow – powdered mountainsides while fastened to narrow lengths of metal, fiberglas, or hickory has proven to be one of the most popular winter pastimes in the country. FAMOUS SKI MOUNTAIN – Squaw Valley's famous KT-22 mountain, named after the number of turns required to ski down its steep slope, stands majestically above the valley floor covered with a new white carpet of snow from a recent Sierra storm. –Sun Photo.

Interview Applicants For County Planning Commission

Professional planning assistance will be sought to help Nevada county pick a new professional planner.

The board of supervisors decided Tuesday to ask three or four planners to help the board interview six men who have applied for the county planning directors job.

One of those who will be invited is William Roberts, the former county planner who resigned last fall to take a job with the Sierra Economic Development District.

Planning directors of Placer, Yuba and Sutter counties also will be invited.

Supervisor Dean Lawrence suggested getting some professionals to help, and Supervisor William Thomas agreed, saying:

"The decision has to be ours, but we are talking to people with specific technical backgrounds. It would be helpful if we had professional people sit in and raise questions. This is such a critical decision we should have the advantage of any questions that can be raised."

According to the board's correspondence, five people will be interviewed next Tuesday, including; Stanley R. Mansfield of Fountain Valley, Carl Busse of Torrance, Richard Rogers of San Mateo, Robert Reed of Vacaville and Francis Longo of Truckee.

Longo is a planning commissioner and former manager of Truckee- Donner Public Utility District.

IMMERSED IN MUSIC - Duane Eddy, right, master guitarist, listens as Dale Nordby and Linda Weiss harmonize with their guitars during master guitar class Saturday at Sierra Nevada College. Eddy who is teaching the class, said the course covers three areas of work - class instruction, a workshop for students to show what they are doing with instructions, and individual instruction. Eddy started playing the guitar when he was 5 years old. At 15 he was working in night clubs in Arizona and by 18 he made his first recording. In the last 10 years he has recorded 25 albums and his recordings have sold 37 million copies. His latest is a single, "Freight Train" which came out under the Congress label. He has an album coming out in two months. - Sun Photo

Master Plan Draws Fire

- Nevada's beleaguered master plan came under fire Thursday at its second public hearing before the Advisory Planning Commission of Nevada Tahoe Regional Planning Agency.

This master plan, designed to set development standards for the Nevada portion of Lake Tahoe Basin, has drawn criticism principally from large land developers and individual owners of property zoned for multiple use (R-3).

The master plan, detailed on some 60 maps and supported by a written narrative of more than 130 pages, sets forth minimum standards for development.

"I fully expect that of the 60 maps I drew to present this plan, only one would draw any criticism," said Raymond Smith, planning consultant for the Nevada agency. "That one is the land - use map," he said. "Since densities are dollars to developers, I knew the protests would come fast and furious when we proposed limiting construction density to 12 units per acre."

Smith's forecast came true at Thursday's meeting as representatives of the largest land development corporations in the United States appeared to present their opposition.

"Set the density level at a 100 units per acre, or have no density requirement at all," argued Don Steinmeyer of Tahoe Sierra Development Co.

"The condominiums developed near Kings Castle are at 20 units to the acre," Steinmeyer said. "They have caused no damage to the surrounding area."

Steinmeyer said the value of the 20 unit per acre development had risen from an original $37,000 per unit to $57,000 per unit.

"When we can generate this kind of value per acre ($1,140,000) we can afford to hire the best people and produce an ideal development that enhances the area," the developer said.

"Arbitrary density figures produce bad development. There should be no unit per acre figure at all," Steinmeyer concluded.

"This horrible example of bad land development figures out at 43 units per acre," Smith told the board. "If we are to preserve Lake Tahoe's natural beauty, a maximum density figure must be set. Consideration of all the factors of life support in the basin causes me to try for the 12 unit per acre figure."

Virgil Wedge, Reno attorney representing Trustees of the George Whittell estate, requested that the 16,000-acre parcel not be zoned "open space."

"This would deprive the estate of any income from this tremendous equity," the attorney said. "Give us a little opportunity to realize some income from this huge investment."

Wedge proposed that six acres totaling 2,000 acres be zoned for high density development. These areas would be located at the Whittell residence site, the Secret Harbor area, Spooner Summit, Logan Shoals and Zephyr Cove areas.

The advisory board accepted Wedge's request in writing and promised to consider it before the final drafting of the plan.

Boise-Cascade, developers at Incline Village, also submitted a new map overlay which they say will save proposed subdivision units 6, 7 and 8.

The board accepted the Boise plan for study and possible incorporation into the final master plan.

The advisory board heard comments and criticism from seven corporations and six individuals during the stormy four-hour session.

Only two parties rose to support the density plan: Nevada Association of Professional Engineers and Anne Cathcart, representing University of Nevada Students to save Lake Tahoe.

The plan will have one more public hearing Feb. 12, after which it will be amended to take into account the proposals made at public hearings.

The master plan will then be presented for adoption by Nevada Tahoe Regional Planning Agency on Feb. 18. Under Nevada law, the agency must move the plan into law by Feb. 19.

After the meeting, Smith looked out at the departing attorneys, corporation counsels and consulting engineers.

"At the adoption of the California interim general plan, there was no one present to oppose it. At the adoption of the Reno general plan, only two people were present," he said.

"Under the pressure of the parties to whom densities mean dollars," Smith said, "we probably cannot hold the 12 units per acre figures."

Smith refused to speculate as to what the final figure would be.

"We certainly don't want to have to go to the 22-unit figure the developers want," the planner said. "But the pressure is certainly there to move us from the 12-unit figure we feel is ideal."

Cal Neva Lodge has announced its celebrity room Jan. 20 will be the locale for the one-time only showing of the Cassius Clay and Rocky Marciano Computer Fight.

The picture will go on at 7 p.m., simultaneously with other theaters throughout the United States.

Comedian Wed

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) - Jack E. Leonard, the comic who spares almost no one from his sharp-tongued insults, was a nervous bridegroom at 58.

He was married in a wedding chapel Thursday to Gladys Esther Westling, 32, an attractive, dark-haired art exhibitor who was divorced the previous day in Ventura, Calif.

Entries Open For Contest

The Miss Snowmobile Queen of Incline Village contest is now officially open for registration.

In order to qualify, entrants must be between the ages of 16 and 23. The contest will be held Wednesday, Feb. 25, 6 p.m. in the dining room of Kings Castle Hotel and Casino. Refreshments will be served.

Judges will be selected from the community with two outside judges to be named later. Contestants will be judged on poise, grooming, beauty and public speaking (not a speech, just answering questions).

Entrants will be required to model in ski clothing and casual "after 5" wear. They must submit upon registration, a black and white glossy 8 x 10 picture of themselves.

The Miss Snowmobile Queen Contest of Incline Village is open to all girls from the Lake Tahoe Basin area including Donner and Truckee.

Interested persons may contact Helene Batt, Room 157, Kings Castle.

Area Tax Protests Being Filed Today

Petitions protesting tax revaluations at Incline and Crystal Bay signed by more than 600 property owners were presented today at 2 o'clock at the Washoe County Assessors office in Reno. The petitions represent protest on more than 1000 parcels of property in the area.

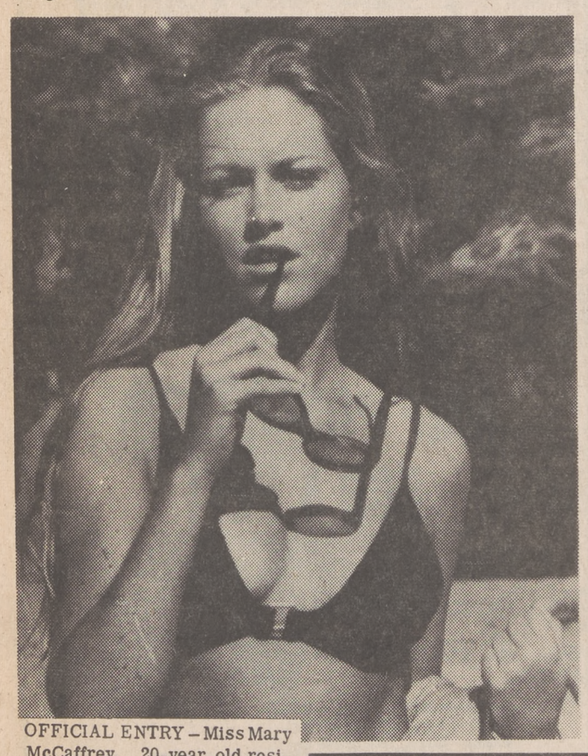
The petitions were being presented by Ed Black, chairman, and Charles Springer, legal advisor, of the North Tahoe Fair Assessment Committee. The committee is sponsored by the North Tahoe Property Owners Association.

Property owners after presenting protests have recourse to a hearing before the newly organized County Board of Equalization which last week elected Reno City Councilman Ernie York as its chairman. The board started hearing protests Friday and must complete the hearings by Jan. 23.

The new board said it would rule on whether a group of property owners may be represented in a combined unit but the ruling had not been made public up until press time for this newspaper.

Black said if necessary, individual property owners would appear in person, however, if this occurs, it could extend the hearings considerably, he said. Property owners may call him, Ed Malley or Darryl Gunther for the time of the hearing.

The Board of Equilization is comprised of the county commission and representatives of Sparks, Reno and the county school district.



OFFICIAL ENTRY – Miss Mary McCaffrey, 20-year-old resident of Incline Village, has officially entered the Kings Castle Snowmobile Grand Prix beauty contest for the title of Miss Snowmobile Queen of Incline Village. A sports enthusiast, Miss McCaffrey was the 1968 Miss Jantzen for Macy's at Sacramento.

Incline Wins First Cage Tilt

The Incline Highlanders, who trailed 17 to 18 at halftime, held Gerlach to a single point in the final period Saturday to win their very first varsity basketball victory ever.

Making the day a major victory all the way down the line, the Incline junior varsity won its game 43–34 and the seventh and eighth grade team won 42–33.

The varsity Western Nevada "A" Conference game was preceded by the junior varsity and the seventh and eighth grade games. It was played at Incline High School.

The Highlanders had dropped 27 games over a two-year span prior to Saturday. Keith Faber pulled down 40 rebounds and scored 12 points for the winners. Cliff Phillips took game honors for Gerlach with 16 points.

Post Is SNC Trustee

Manning J. Post, MA, of Los Angeles, has been named a trustee of Incline's Sierra Nevada College. Announcement was made by College President Dr. Friedrich A. von Brincken. Post heads the Little Hoover Commission and is Jesse Unruh's campaign treasurer.

Also announced are new instructors for the winter quarter. Incline attorney Donald Gilfillan, LLD, is teaching business law. Lydia Schlant, MA, has classes in speech and world literature. Mickey Gentile is conducting a jazz workshop and giving jazz lessons.

Dr. von Brincken also announced that Dr. Benjamin J. Solomon, who holds a PhD in mathematics, will join the college staff for the third quarter which starts March 30. Dr. Solomon, in addition to teaching mathematics and statistics will hold classes in gymnastics and skiing.

Girls Injured

Deana Phipps, 16, and Noreen Wilson, 17, sustained knee and back injuries as well as cuts and contusions when the car Miss Phipps was driving and one driven by Leland Dawson of Carson City collided in the 500 block of Lucille Drive last week.

Both young women were treated and released from Washoe Medical Center. Deputies reported Dawson, a Southwest Gas Co. meter reader, was coming out of a driveway when the collision occured. No citations were issued.

Deputies report investigations continues on the report of four new snow tires stolen the weekend of Jan. 3 to 7 from the Incline High School.

Investigation is also continuing on the report of three coin machines which were broken open at Woody's Service Station, Tahoe Boulevard and Southwood. An estimated $25 to $80 is believed to have been taken.

In an earlier theft this month four California men placed under citizens arrest by Albert Vincent were booked and taken to Reno for arraignment. Vincent reportedly found the men breaking into coin machines he operates in front of the Crystal Bay Drug at Crystal Bay.

Arrested for theft were David Alan Brown, 19, Newark, Calif.; Mather Air Force Base, Sacramento, Calif; Robert Collins Knight, 19, Newark, and Larry Ray McCann, 19, also Newark.

Honor Roll Announced

Sixteen students have been named to the honor roll and 11 received honorable mention for the second six-weeks period at Incline High School.

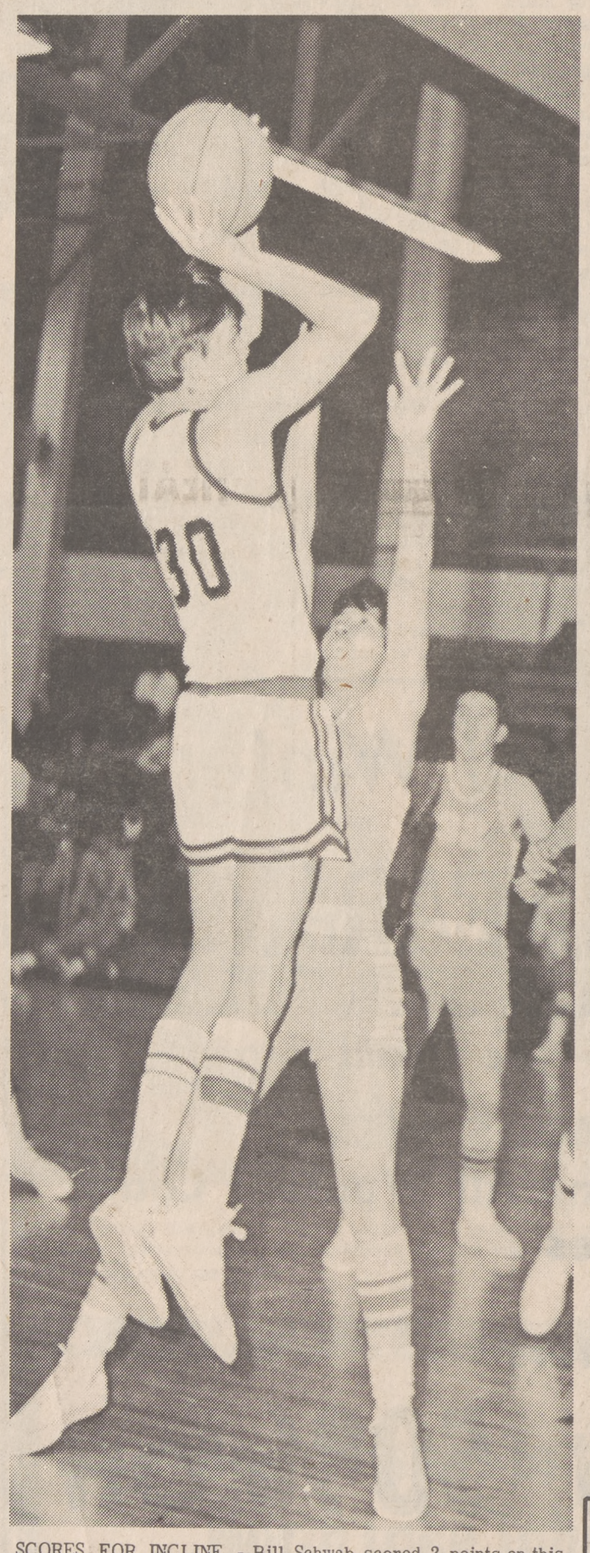
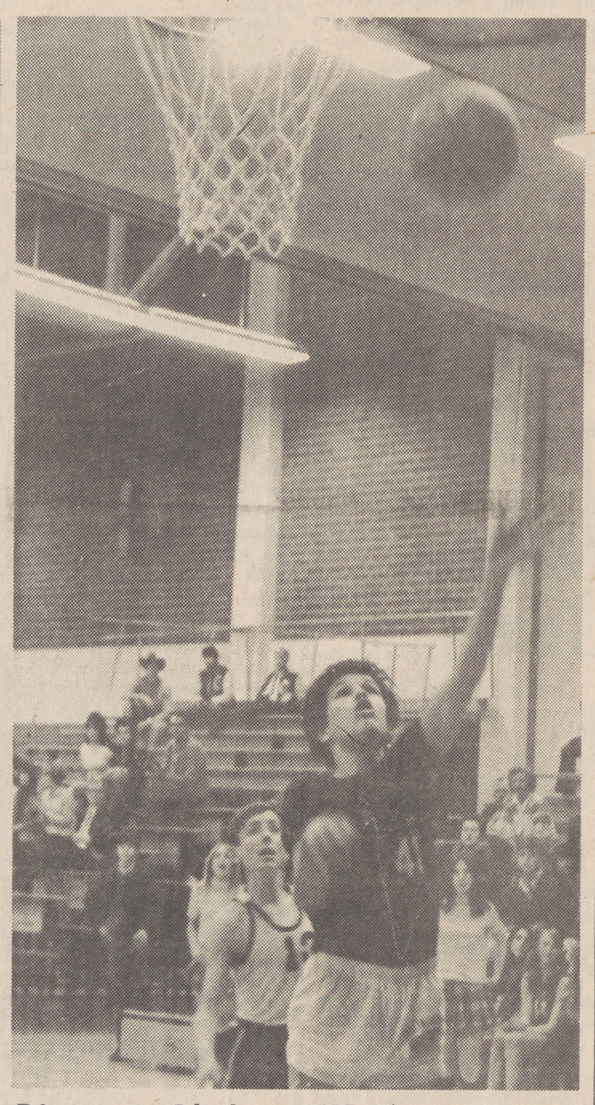
Those achieving honorable mention are Pauline Anderson, Susan Bub, Cathy Fields, April Hamann, Debra Hancock Mark Hollerback, Donis Pacini, Lee Rogers, Nancy Tiller, Charlie Uhrig and Dean Wilson.

Those on the honor roll earned a grade average of 1.7 or better while taking at least three solids; those earning honorable mention made a grade average of 2.5 or better while taking three solids.



SCORES FOR INCLINE - Bill Schwab scored 2 points on this play Saturday night toward Incline's very first varsity basketball victory. The Highlanders took Gerlach 47-35 in the home game at Incline High School. - Sun Photo



Picture Club

A motion picture club is being started at Incline Village. Purpose is to examine the history of motion pictures by screening famous pictures every week.

First meeting was held last Monday and meetings will be held subsequently every Monday from 8 to 10:30 p.m. at Sierra Nevada College Theater.

Club memberships are available to the public at the registration office of Sierra Nevada College, 800 Campbell Rd.

MADE IT! - Mark Mamczarz shoots a basket during the seventh and eighth grade basketball win Saturday over Gerlach. The game, second of the season for the junior high team, was played previous to the junior varsity and varsity games.

PRODUCTION CONFERENCE - Ironing out rewrite problems on the film script for "Cocatrice" are author Gilbert Ralston, second from right, who is also dean of the College of Communications at Sierra Nevada College, and from left, producers Clay Lawson, president of Group Four Enterprises; Steve Huss and Bill Gruber, all of Universal City. The trio was at Incline last weekend to confer with Ralston and look over the area here which will be the locale for most of the filming. Lawson said filming is expected to start around the first of March. The producers are now in the process of putting stars and directors on the picture. - Sun Photo

Over The Back Fence

By FLORENCE BURGE

Incline Librarian Audrey Anderson's annual report to Washoe County Library Director William Andrews gives an interesting reflection on the growth last year and forecasts the potential this year for the Incline-Crystal Bay area.

Audrey notes that some 21,500 books are circulated in 1969 compared to just under 18,000 the previous year and the 545 adult and 505 children with registered library cards is double that of 1968.

She said the total book collection now on the shelves totals 9,555 volumes.

Audrey said a plea brought ten volunteers to her assistance in handling increased volume throughout the year. Some are still helping and she foresees that within a year or two, the library will undoubtedly need its own quarters. It is now housed at the Incline Grade School.

Did you know - Reno Junior College of Business has awarded its first certificate in fashion merchandising? It went to Dee Ann Fulstone of Yerington.

We understand by grapevine (unverified) that the Cassius Clay and Rocky Marciano Computer Fight not only will be displayed simultaneously at the same hour throughout the United States, but negatives and all the film prints will be destroyed following the showing and it will never be seen again.

The two champions fought a total of 25 rounds in Florida to make the film which was then computerized to determine the winner. Only its producer knows the results decreed by the computer.

The film arrives sealed and will be delivered only one-half hour before show time - just in time for it to be wound on the theatre reels. It is being shown only at certain designated theaters throughout the country at 7 o'clock western time, 10 o'clock eastern time.

Speaking of show biz - there's quite a bit of it right in our front yard. Gilbert Ralston, dean of the School of Communications at Sierra Nevada College and professional television and motion picture writer, spent the holidays whipping three motion picture scripts into shape (all of them sold).

Gil said it's the second or third time around (in rewriting) for some of them "but who cares, they are either in production or going into production soon and every rewrute puts foot in the refrig."

Besides "Cocatrice" which will be filmed here (see picture this paper) Gil is doing "Rat Man" with producer Mort Briskin. An MGM release, it's being filmed at Paramount Studios with Michael Pollard in the leading role. The film is scheduled to go into production April 15.

He's also doing "Seaul Affair" which will be filmed in its entirety in Korea. Marty Conn is producer and shooting will start in April under Four-Star Production, Inc.

"I'm also starting a western for Paramount and a documentary to be shot in Tahiti," said Gil, admitting that it will be necessary for him to go to Tahiti during the filming.

How lucky can you get?

Houseguests of Sierra Nevada College President Dr. Friedrich von Brincken last weekend were Steve Huss, Clay Lawson and Bill Gruber of Universal City.

Seems the Reno - Lake Tahoe area is becoming better known all the time. Reno Chamber of Commerce reveals that 1171 mail inquiries related to Reno and Lake Tahoe attractions were answered during the month of December. All of these were from out of state.

Of this number there were 971 requests for general tourist information, 114 relating to housing and rental units, seven concerning divorce procedure, nine on marriage regulations, 53 from school students and 17 requesting brochures on rock hunting.

Some 250 domestic and foreign travel agents are here today (Wednesday) to see Lake Tahoe firsthand. They are making their headquarters for the day at Cal Neva Lodge and Kings Castle.

The agents represent 20 major U.S. cities and nine foreign countries including Japan, Australia, Germany, France, South America, Canada, Mexico, Italy and Great Britain. They are on a three-day junket to the Reno-Tahoe area sponsored by the Reno Chamber of Commerce, United Air Lines, Western Airlines and Pan American Airways.

At noon today, they watched the Jean-Claude Killy television filming at Heavenly Valley. This afternoon they will be guests for cocktails at Harrah's Tahoe and will return to the north shore for dinner at Cal Neva and Kings Castle.

North Shore and Reno fashion coordinator-commentator Betty Ann Gelber says her upcoming show Saturday for the Nevada Horsemen's Association Ladies' Day has a "bevy of ultra western and English riding wear as well as casual and evening costumes." Mesdames Alan Heister and Edwin Trosi are in charge for the horsemen.

The show will be held at the Sparks Nugget Circus Room with cocktails at 11:30, luncheon at 12:30 and the show at 1:30. Tickets are $4 and may be obtained from Mrs. Faye Faretto, 323-3683. Betty also said prizes are going to be awarded throughout the event.

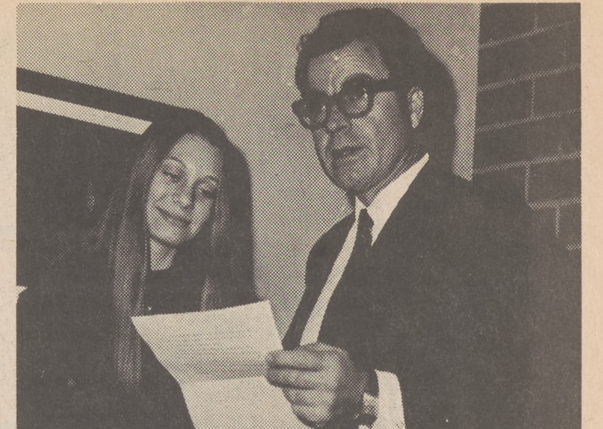
Both students are outstanding academically as well as in extra curricular activities in their schools. Norm Hankoff, KTHO vice president and general manager, in awarding the medal commemorating California's 200-year history, noted "You should be justly proud of this honor, as those in your school are proud to have you as amember of their student body . . . Best wishes to you for the future!" Sun Photo



Incline Planner Awarded Contract

The planning consultant firm of Incline resident Raymond M. Smith has been retained to create a comprehensive general plan for Nye County, Nevada, one of the largest counties in the United States.

Smith's firm, Raymond M. Smith A. I. P. & Associates, is the one also retained by the Nevada Tahoe Regional Planning Agency for plans for the Nevada portion of Lake Tahoe. Those plans are now being presented before various groups with final approval after recommended changes slated for February.

The Nye County contract was recently approved by the Nevada State Planning Board.

Included in the program which has been under consideration for several years, are a land use plan, transportation and public lands studies, and both urban and rural analyses. It is scheduled for completion within one year.

Raymond M. Smith is a member of the American Institute of Planners and was director of the regional planning commission of Reno, Sparks and Washoe County for 10 years. He was also the first executive director for the Lake Tahoe Area Council and a vice president of the Crystal Bay Development Co.

His firm is also serving as consultant to several northern Nevada Counties, has completed similar plans for Humboldt and Lander counties and is developing one for Elko County.

Polaris Knows!

Say it in one word. Performance. A get-up-and-go snowmobile that turns any stretch of snow into an open highway. One word, but a dozen design refinements in the '70 Polaris make it happen. Like powerful twin-cylinder Star engines, new Drift-Skipper suspension, Polaratone muffler, and dependable electric start.

These are just a few of the pace-setting innovations in the 1970 Polaris. Take a test drive. You won't risk anything but temptation.

THIEF DRIVES - Series star Robert Wagner (left) and guest star Dick Smothers (right), qualified race car drivers, and Mario Andretti (center), the 1969 Indianapolis 500 Winner and the year's U.S. Automobile Club Champion driver, speed into a spy story on the European circuit in "The Steal-Driving Man," on the ABC Television Network's "It Takes A Thief." The episode launches the series in its new day and time period, Monday, Jan. 19.

PREMIERES - Four new television shows are scheduled to premiere next week on ABC. Englebert Humperdinck, (left) English singing sensation, hosts his own variety series beginning Jan. 21. Scheduled to premiere the same evening in a variety show hosted by Johnny Cash (second from left) one of the nation's most outstanding folk and country and western artists. Cash will revive his highly successful show which was one of the top summer entertainment hours. Juliet Mills (center) and Richard Long (second from right) co-star in the new ABC half-hour series "Nanny and the Professor," also premiering Jan. 21. The following evening will be highlighted with the first "Pat Paulsen's Half A Comedy Hour" starring Pat Paulsen (right) in his first television series.

Hope Holiday Show To Be Telecast

Christmas for the Bob Hope troupe was a computer aboard the USS Ranger programmed for Christmas carols - and "Thanks for the Memory," the traditional Turkey dinner with the enlisted men of the 101st Airborne Division and the singing of "Silent Night" with 12,000 Marines on Da Nang's spectacular Freedom Hill.

As Hope's 19th annual Christmas tour of the troops approaches the final homeward phase, the 75 member cast and crew took a day off following a two day visit to the northern reaches of Vietnam - a day off highlighted with a command appearance in the evening before the king and queen of Thailand.

Next is a two day show for Thailand and then the final stop in Vietnam. Then it is onto Taiwan, Guam and back to Los Angeles where the around-the-world tour began on Sunday, Dec. 14.

Both Christmas Eve and Christmas were busy days for the troupe. Departing Bangkok early Wednesday, the first show of the day was in a heavy rain at Chu Lai by the sea for some 15,000 men of the American Division.

The second rocket incident of the trip was reported at Chu Lai by Maj. Gen. Lloyd B. Ramsey, American commander. He said a Vietnamese came to the base main gate early in the day with a map pinpointing a rocket supposedly aimed at the base. Artillery was used to wipe out the location.

The rain caused a cancellation of the show scheduled aboard the hospital ship Sancturay. However, once the copters landed on the Ranger the weather cleared long enough to permit Hope, Neil Armstrong, Teresa Graves and Connie Stevens to take a smaller chopper to the hospital ship some five miles distant for a 30 minute mini-show.

Shows Christmas Day were held at Camp Eagle for the 101st Airborne and late in the day for the Third Marine Amphibious Force at Da Nang.

Filmed highlights of the tour, which stars Bob Hope, Connie Stevens, Eva Reuber-Staier, the 13 singing-dancing girls of the Golddiggers of 1970, Teresa Graves, Les Brown and his Band of Renown and appearances from Austrian actress Romy Schneider and Moon Astronaut Neil Armstrong, will be broadcast on the NBC Television Network when "Chrysler Presents the Bob Hope Christmas Special," Thursday, Jan. 15 in color.

SONGS FOR SERVICEMEN - Singer-actress Connie Stevens, one of the performers of Bob Hope's overseas troupe, will be seen singing to American servicemen around the world when "Chrysler Presents The Bob Hope Christmas Special" on the NBC Television Network Thursday, Jan. 15. The tour, Hope's 19th Christmas spent overseas, will include stops in Germany, Italy, Turkey, Thailand, South Vietnam, Taiwan and Guam. Filmed highlights of the shows will be colorcast on the NBC-TV special.

FUNNY FOURSOME - Tom and Dick Smothers join Carol Burnett and Dan Rowan in comedy sketch in the NBC Television Network's special, "Rowan and Martin Bite the Hand that Feeds Them," to be colorcast Wednesday, Jan. 14.

Big Issue: HEW Appropriations

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Robert P. Griffin, the Republican whip, says there is no prospect Congress will yield to the White House to avert a vote of the $19.7 billion health, education and welfare appropriation bill.

The Michigan senator anticipates a veto, President Nixon's first, and he expects enough Republicans to get in step to uphold the administration.

Even as Griffin worked to round up Republican votes against the appropriation, first order of business when the Senate reconvenes Jan. 19, he acknowledge the measure undoubtedly will go to the President as now drafted.

The White House has said if Nixon gets the bill unchanged, it absolutely will be vetoed because the administration considers it inflationary.

"I just don't know how you could change it now," Griffin said in an interview.

The measure awaiting Senate action is a compromise already approved by the House. To change it, the Senate would have to reject the compromise, presumably in favor of new negotiating sessions with House draftsmen.

A single Senate roll call could sent the bill to the President and the threatened veto.

The veto would face action first in the House, which originated the bill. "They would have a good chance of sustaining the President there," Griffin said.

But a veto would put nearly half the Republicans in the House in a difficult position - they voted twice for the $1.26 billion increase Nixon objects to.

Eighty-six House Republicans are caught in the squeeze between the GOP administration and the powerful education lobby that got the funds added originally to the bill.

It takes a two-thirds vote in both the House and Senate to override. House action probably would come late this month if there is a vote. The last time a presidential veto was overridden was 10 years ago when Dwight D. Eisenhower was unable to kill a federal pay raise bill.

If the House should fail to override the President, then the veto would be upheld without any Senate action. In such a case, Congress would have to try again to come up with an acceptable funding bill for HEW.

Griffin said partly loyalty should sway GOP members of Congress to back the veto, even those who might vote for the appropriation Nixon considers too expensive.

'Imposter' Is Pastor

FRIDAY HARBOR, Wash. (AP) - Ferdinand Waldo DeMara, known as "The Great Imposter," (whose adventures include one near Placerville, Calif.,) has turned up in this island town as paster of the San Juan Baptist Church, the Seattle Times said.

DeMara is known here as the Rev. Dr. Fred W. DeMara, the Times said. He arrived about a month ago to preach in the 30-member Conservative Baptist Church.

Asked about his appointment to the pulpit in Friday Harbor, a town of 780 persons north of Seattle, DeMara answered:

"I can't see that a response would serve any useful purpose. Thank you for your interest, though."

DeMara, in past times and places, has posed as a college psychology professor, Canadian Navy surgeon, deputy prison warden, Trappist monk, school teacher and zoologist.

He also has been an evangelist in a Los Angeles Skid Row mission, a postulant in a small interfaith mononstary at Wien, Mo., and operator of a boys' camp near Placerville, Calif.

He was the subject of a 1961 movie called "The Great Imposter," starring Tony Curtis.

New Views On Moon's Origin Aired

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) - The moon may have formed from a mineral-laden cloud boiled away from the earth in primordial times, an Australian scientist says.

Dr. A. E. Ringwood of the Australian National University said Wednesday his studies of Apollo 11 moon samples make "the traditional theories of the moon's origin look very, very shaky right now."

In his presentation to a lunar science conference he suggested the moon may have formed when the sun boiled away earth minerals, forming "a massive primitive atmosphere." The atmosphere dissipated and cooled. Silicates formed a mass of small bodies orbiting earth. These later united to become the moon.

The theory was attacked immediately by two other scientists.

Dr. Donald Wise of the University of Massachusetts said the moon could not be in its present orbit if it had formed from a sediment ring about the earth.

Dr. John O'Keefe of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said that it was not possible for such a cloud of minerals to have generated enough velocity to have gone into orbit around the earth.

The three traditional theories of the moon's origin state:

- It was a body moving through space which was captured by the earth's gravity.
- It formed in the same way and at the same time, but apart from the earth.
- It is a great chunk of earth which was spun or thrown into orbit by an explosion.

"I think it's too early to judge any of the theories," Wise said. "All of them have their Achilles heels."

Wise said he favors the concept of the moon coming from the earth.

Ringwood is one of the 142 scientists presenting papers at the lunar science conference. All are reporting on the first detailed study of moon samples returned to earth by Apollo 11.

New Method Devised To Treat Stroke

TORONTO (AP) - A Toronto brain surgeon has described a new method of improving blood circulation in the brains of stroke victims by replacing blocked arteries in the head with grafted leg veins.

Dr. William Lougheed of Toronto General Hospital said that early last month a 54-year-old Toronto woman underwent such an operation. She has since recovered, he said.

Two operating teams headed by Lougheed used new surgical equipment in a 12-hour operation on the woman Dec. 5, the surgeon said in a report this week.

He said a leg vein section was used to bypass a blocked carotid artery just above the neck. The vein was inserted into a small cut above the blocked section of the artery, Lougheed related, then threaded between the skull and the scalp and connected to the artery in the neck below the blockage, restoring normal blood flow.

Lougheed cautioned that the operation would not cure paralysis resulting from strokes, but said it could prevent patients from having additional strokes which could paralyze them further or kill them.

San Clemente's Change

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) - The town is proud to be the site of President Nixon's Western White House, but a tourist attraction he isn't.

"I guess you could say we've had a reverse spinoff from this thing," says Gilbert Eselle, head of the Chamber of Commerce. "People think our town is crowded now that the President is here, so they don't come."

At the San Clemente Inn - biggest hotel in town - few guests joined the presidential staff, which used about half the 120 rooms.

"People think we're splitting at the seams," says manager Omar Brennan. "It's just not true. Right now I'm ready to accommodate anyone who calls."

Last August, when Nixon visited, many hotels had vacancies - normally unheard of in the summer tourist season.

"There was a story printed saying the Secret Service had taken over everything," recalls Eselle. "As a result, half of the rooms in town were empty."

Then there was the public's disappointment at not being able to see the picturesque Western White House.

"We still get a lot of inquiries from tourists asking if they can see the President's home."

Court Date

LOS ANGELES (AP) - A court date has been set for a foot specialist who submitted a Medi-Cal claim for treating a patient's feet. The patient turned out to be legless, authorities say.

Dr. James A. Chircosta, 38, was ordered Tuesday by Commissioner Homer L. Garrott of Municipal Court to appear for arraignment in Superior Court on Jan. 20 on eight felony counts.

Border Checks Still Touchy

SAN YSIDRO, Calif. (AP) - Operation Cooperation, successor to the much - criticized Operation Intercept, still evokes intermittent protests with its efforts to block marijuana smuggling from Mexico.

A monumental border traffic jam over the long New Year's weekend recalled some of the big Tie-ups of late September and October. Motorists fumed for three hours, waiting to be inspected and Mexican merchants were upset.

"Intercept is on again" declared a headline in El Heraldo, a Tijuana newspaper.

Operation Intercept was launched last September by the U.S. Treasury Department in cooperation with the Justice Department. Three weeks later, after angry criticism over the long border crossing delays, the program had been toned down to Operation Cooperation. Mexican officials promised to step up their own drive against marijuana.

Border inspections still are more thorough than before Operation Intercept.

Vernon Hann, district director for U.S. Customs, whose jurisdiction includes San Ysidro, busiest port of entry, says traffic delays on normal weekends adverage up to two hours, about half an hour longer than the pre-Intercept average.

"During Operation Intercept we inspected everything that moved," Hann said. "We've eased up but it's still quite a bit higher than before Intercept and we want to continue this way."

Allen D. Clayton, acting officer in charge of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service at San Ysidro, said tourist traffic has climbed steadily since being cut in half during Intercept.

Now, he said, "it all boils down to the same old problem, not enough personnel" to make the inspections. Extra agents borrowed for the campaign have gone back to the Canadian border and new personnel authorized by Congress have not yet arrived.

How is the operation faring?

Officials say only slightly more marijuana is being intercepted here now than before Operation Intercept. But the price of Marijuana is up.

In a typical week before Intercept, U.S. Customs agents here seized 254 pounds of marijuana. As 1970 dawned, 320 pounds were confiscated.

For December, interceptions totaled 1,932 pounds - compared with 1,900 in an average month before the campaign kickoff September 21, 1969.

A chief aim of the drive was to push marijuana prices beyond the reach of many Americans.

Joseph H. House, area supervisor for the California Bureau of Narcotics, said a kilo-2.2 pounds - of marijuana which brought $45 before Intercept now costs as much as $160. Farther from the border, the price was reported at pre-Intercept levels.

More illegal pills than ever are being seized along the 2,500-mile international border - from 2.6 million in the 1967-68 fiscal year to 6 million at San Ysidro in 1968-69.

Marijuana users, finding the weed a bit harder to come by, may be switching over, agents say.

Stars Figure In Franchise Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) - Cousin Minnie Pearl of the Grand Ole Opry will be there. And sitting next to her may be Johnny Carson, Joe Namath, Mickey Mantle and Pat Boone.

All are players in a multi-billion - dollar - a - year "name game - the franchise industry.

All have been asked to be witnesses in three days of congressional hearings beginning Jan. 20. So far only Minnie Pearl has accepted.

The eventual outcome could be federal regulation of an industry whose $90 billion annual sales accounts for 10 per cent of the Gross National Product.

Senate investigators laying the groundwork for the hearings say they have found some evidence of fraud and questionable business practices within the still growing industry.

More than 600,000 franchises are operating in the United States today, licensed by some 1,000 different franchisers of everything from service stations to fried chicken and tacos stands.

"The concept of business franchising has been around for a long time, but all of a sudden its taken off like a big bird and nobody knows which way it's going to fly," says Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J.

Williams says his subcommittee on urban and rural economic development "will attempt to unwrap the entire franchising package for the benefit of all concerned."

Some abuses uncovered by committee investigators, according to general counsel Tim Ford, are unrestricted competition through over-franchising in certain geographic areas, lack of promised management help to the individual franchisee and unfair contract clauses that leave the buyer of the franchise at the mercy of the parent firm.

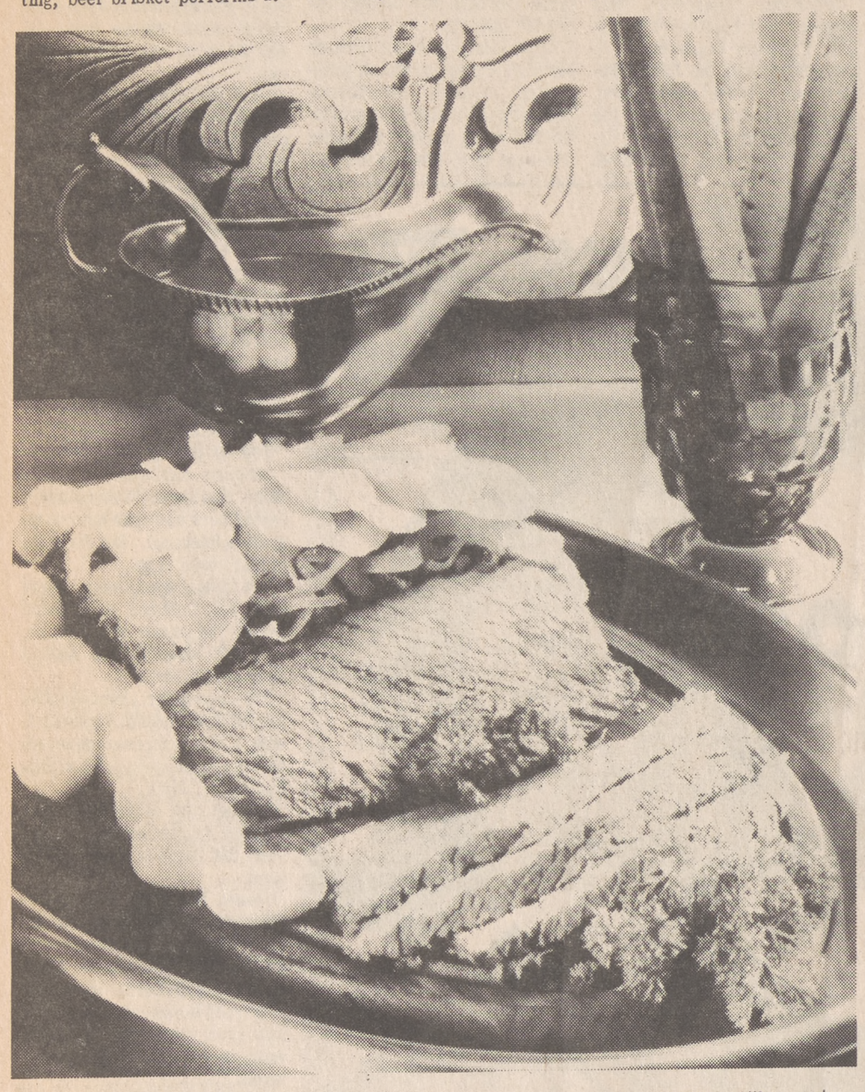
In addition to the personalities whose names publicize some franchises - Here's Johnny roast fried chicken restaurants and Broadway Joe's restaurants - other witnesses invited are from the Federal Trade Commission, the Small Business Administration and the International Franchise Association.

Singer Ailing

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Singer Julie London has cancelled the remainder of a singing engagement at the Roosevelt Hotel's Blue Room to return to California and enter a hospital for surgery, her agent said last week.

Beef Brisket—Delicious, Economical San Clemente Sees Changes

In a serenely hospitable setting, beef brisket performs attractively, deliciously and economically with a trio of cooked vegetables. It will inspire compliments when served on a platter in a decorative arrangement as the home economists for the California Beef Council have done.



HOSPITABLE DISH - Bake beef brisket, season with salt, pepper and allspice, along with carrots and onions for a delicious meal that can fit any food budget but provides flavor and nutrition.

This beef recipe becomes a complete dinner when combined with salad, bread sticks and dessert. The dinner's vegetables - carrots, onions and potatoes - are cooked along with the beef. The combined meat and vegetable juices make an ideal base for gravy made quickly by adding a package of gravy mix.

This hearty beef dinner is easy-on-the-pocketbook fare. Beef brisket is an inexpensive cut providing high flavor and good nutrition. The homemaker, as keeper of the family's health and food purse, can be assured that her family is getting important nutrients - high protein, minerals and vitamins- and low fat.

BAKED BRISKET CALIFORNIA

1 (4-pound) lean California beef brisket, well trimmed
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon black pepper
⅛ teaspoon allspice
1 bay leaf, crushed
1 large carrot, thinly sliced
1 large onion, cut in rings
1 cup diagonally sliced celery
1 package (about ¾- ounce) brown gravy mix

Place brisket on wooden board and rub with salt, pepper and allspice. Place in roasting pan. Sprinkle with bay leaf and arrange vegetables over beef. Cover tightly with foil. Bake in oven preheated to 300 degrees F. until beef is very tender about 3½ hours. Remove meat and vegetables to serving platter.

Blend gravy mix into pan juices. Cook over low heat, stirring, until sauce boils and thickens. Slice brisket diagonally to grain. Serve gravy separately. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

IN FASHION'S ORBIT - The free-wheeling look of fashion 1970 is captured by Designer Stacy Ames in this T-shirt dress of diamond-patterned cotton crochet. Lightweight and comfortable as only cotton can be, the dress comes in a natural string color.

Cotton Knits Head List Of 1970 Trend-Setters

Throughout its long history, cotton has been periodically discovered and re-discovered by fashion designers.

An advance look at upcoming fashions for the new year shows that 1970 will be another year of discovery (or re-discovery) for an "old" cotton that's suddenly as new as tomorrow.

It's cotton knit . . . turning up now in fascinating new texture that look for all the world like hand-loomed masterpieces done by the most skilled artisans.

These new cottons with their lacy, intricate surfaces are a welcome change from the flat, slick "machine look" that has typified knit fashions for so long. Yet for all their bulky, handcrafted looks, they still retain the lightweight comfort women have come to expect in cotton.

High Altitude Gardening

By Ronald H. Gustafson
Washoe County Extension Horticulturist

This is the time of year when house plants are enjoyed the most when their green foliage and flowers are a welcome sight. The cloudy days of winter are also good for the growth of fungi and bacterial diseases, as well as insects.

Insects may be controlled by washing the plants, but sometimes a chemical spray might be used. Of all the chemicals available Malathion and Kelthane are the best. If Malathion is used - mix 2 teaspoons of 57 per cent emulsifiable concentrate into a gallon of water. If Kelthane is used - mix 1 teaspoon of 18.5 per cent emulsfiable concentrate into a gallon of water. Both of these materials may be used as either a spray or dip, but whichever way they are used, care should be taken not to get the chemical on you, and don't use it in your home. These chemicals will control almost all common insects on house plants.

Fungus and bacterial disease will not be much of a problem to you if good cultural practices are carried out. This means giving your plants a bath and removing all the dead and discolored leaves. The diseases may be stopped if caught early enough by the use of a fungicide such as captan or mercury containing fungicides. If you use these materials be sure to follow the directions and don't use them in your home.

Every once in a while a plant may look diseased but it doesn't improve when treated for insects or fungi; in this case it may be suffering from too much fertilizer (a water soaked appearance), or perhaps low humidity (a burned appearance on the edge of the leaves). By pouring water in the top of the flower pot and let it drain out the bottom the fertilizer will be leached or carried out of the soil and the plant will improve, provided the damage is not too extreme. The low humidity (very dry air in the room), can be improved by placing the potted plants over a try of pebbles to which water has been added.

If you have very little window space, you can use artificial light and have wonderful flowers. African violets and geraniums grow very well under this type of light.

The type of light used is a combination of one 25 watt fluourscent tube. The fluorescent tube produces light but little heat and the bulb produces color rays that promote good plant growth. Place the bulbs 10 inches above the top of the plants and leave the light on it for 16 hours a day.

If you were one of those fortunate enough to have a living Christmas tree this year, the following procedure may save it for the garden this spring. Remove the decorations and place outside. After it has been placed outside, give it plenty of water and even spray the foliage. Be sure to protect it from the wind and afternoon sun.

Now is the time to get out your seed catalogues and think about what you want to try in your garden in the spring.

NEW STAFF MEMBERS - Tanya Battaglia, new assistant librarian at Incline Branch, Washoe County Library, checks out a book for Steven Edwards, sixth grade student Incline, Fruday on her first day of work. Announcement of Miss Battaglia's appointment was made by Incline Librarian Audrey Anderson. The new staff member has had three years experience as a student librarian at Yuba High School. She has applied for entrance to Incline's Sierra Nevada College expecting to enroll for the the spring quarter. - Sun Photo

Mountain Climbing Courses Start At SNC

Courses in mountain climbing are being added to the curriculum of Sierra Nevada College at Incline Village.

The courses will include instruction in basic snow and rock climbing. During the winter and spring seasons snow climbing will be emphasized while during the summer and fall instruction will be centered around rock climbing.

According to Vahan Yazarian, director of the college mountain climbing program, advance instruction is also available.

This winter the college is offering three mountain climbing courses. The first course is a one-day program and the second is a weekend course which includes food and indoor lodging. No college credit will be given for the two short courses which are designed to introduce persons to winter snow climbing by teaching proper safety techniques and providing a climb with a view of the Tahoe area.

The third program being offered runs 10 weeks and carries two college credits. The first part of the course will be devoted to instruction in basic snow climbing techniques supplemented by discussions of first aid, navigation, food, rescue and leadership.

The latter part of the 10-week course will consist entirely of experience climbing. A trip to Mt. Shasta is planned, according to Yazarian who will be instructing the course.

Yazarian is an experienced mountain climber and instructor. He has climbed in the Northwest, the Tetons and the Canadian Rocky Mountains. During the past year he taught climbing to over 200 students from the Bay Area through courses at the University YMCA in Berkeley. He will be assisted at Sierra Nevada College by Ray Hadley and Karl Ranta.

For further information about the courses, call the college at 831-1314 or Yazarian at 541-1249 evenings.

Plans call for courses to begin during the latter part of January. At least 10 students must be signed up before the course can be started. Registration may be completed at the college.

Von Brincken Decision Challenged

Dr. Friedrich von Brincken said he was "shocked and disappointed" when informed last week that the Washoe County District Attorney's office had filed an appeal with the Nevada Supreme Court to reverse Judge John Barrett's Dec. 22 decision to drop an involuntary manslaughter charge against him.

"We are reviewing our legal position from the view of civil rights, malicious prosecution and other areas of the law," von Brincken said also noting that Deputy District Attorney Frederick Pinkerton's statement regarding Judge Barrett's decision "was taken out of context.

"He (Pinkerton) failed to quote the judge's statement that he had reviewed the matter with a trained legal mind, and that you don't try people on specualtion," von Brincken said.

Von Brincken's attorney, Donald Gilfillan said he was "stunned" at the district attorney's action.

"A black day has come to the legal profession," he said.

Mrs. Hope von Brincken was found dead on a snowy road at Incline Village on March of 1969, and her husband was subsequently indicted by a grand jury on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

Agency To Be Head Office

George Hartwell, president of Carson Tahoe Travel, Inc., has announced plans to make the newly opened Incline Office the central accounting division for the corporation.

The corporation has the Incline Travel Agency, the Tahoe Travel Agency at South Shore and the Carson Travel Center at Carson City.

Hartwell also said that later plans call for the Incline office to the main administrative office for all three agencies.

Incline Travel Agency is a complete travel service handling tickets and reservations for all airlines, domestic and international; all steamships and cruise lines; hotels throughout the world and major tour companies including American Express.

Mrs. Waunita Sharman, long time employe of United Air Lines and resident of Incline Village is managing the new Incline office. It is located at 889 Tahoe Blvd., telephone, 831-1444.

Ask Land Use Change

A public hearing on a change of land use requested by Washoe Investments, Inc., and H. E. McKoskey of Crystal Bay Club has been scheduled for Tuesday, Jan. 20 at 7:45 p.m. in the Reno City Council Chambers.

The hearing is to be held before the Regional Planning Commission of Reno, Sparks and Washoe County.

The request is for a change from single family, limited multiple and limited commercial to general commercial for some 2 acres north and west of Cal Neva Drive at the Crystal Bay Club site.

TAKE THE MONEY - Well, who's turn is it to rob the bank? In a wild scene from "Take the Money and Run," Virgil Starkwell's (Woody Allen) gang meets some competition at bank robbing. The comedy opens tonight (Wednesday) for one week at the Cal Neva Lodge Celebrity Theater. Allen, star, director and co-author, portrays the unlikely hero, Virgil Starkwell, a master criminal who always bungles the crime, blowing his chances to make the "Ten Most Wanted" list. The original comedy, filmed in San Francisco, also stars Janet Margolin. The film follows Allen's earlier stage, television and night club experiences where he has become a personality in comedy.

GUARANTEE
This Guarantee will be honored by all Firestone Dealers and Stores carrying Firestone brand batteries. Every Firestone battery is guaranteed against defects in workmanship and materials, and against failure in normal passenger car service for the stated period after date of purchase. Replacement will be made without charge within 90 days after purchase. After 90 days, if any adjustment is necessary, an allowance will be made against the printed Exchange Price current at the time of adjustment, based on the unexpired portion of the original warranty period. Failure due to abuse, fire, wreck, freezing, the use of higher than 1.265 specific gravity electrolyte, battery "rejuvenators" or "patented electrolytes," voids this guarantee.

100 RIVER ROAD — INTERSECTION OF HIGHWAYS 89 & 28 — TAHOE CITY

AT NORTH TAHOE – A trio that has won acclaim for their lively interpretations of today's top tunes, Ronnie Fray and the Capers, is entertaining nightly in the Topaz Room theatre–lounge of Nevada Lodge through Jan. 17. With 100 view guest rooms, Nevada Lodge has proved very popular with snow enthusiasts. Sixteen ski areas are near the popular resort hotel. Mid–week reservations are suggested. The Lyrics, four very talented young vocalists, open their stay at the Lodge on Jan. 20.

Little Richard Has Cabaret Rocking

Little Richard, a shattering clap of thunder disguised as a mortal, left an opening night audience in Harrah's Stateline Cabaret on the verge of apoplexy.

Hundreds elbowed their way into the lounge and stood outside in a crush to see and hear Little Richard scream, jump, splinter the ivories and sing the songs for which he is identified.

Little Richard didn't disappoint. He exploded through the long list of familiar rock n' roll songs from the fifties which sold more than 32 million copies for the sultan of song.

Only Little Richard can sing Little Richard songs, and only could the man who helped launch a new era of music be able to generate as much enthusiasm and natural rapport as he does.

Appropriately introduced as the "King of Rock 'n Soul", Little Richard had his audience popping its palms, stomping its feet, singing with him and shouting for more throughout his hour's turn.

Many in the lounge opening night were between the ages of 25-30 - those who made up the record-buying populace over a decade ago when Little Richard and rock 'n roll were cornering the market.

The universal beat of the popular singer had both the older patrons, swing vintage, and the younger ones, rock genre, grooving and moving with him as well as the 25-30 year olds.

Unlike much of the other rock 'n roll memorabilia such as "Hound Dog" or "Rock Around the Clock" that would sound out of place today, Little Richard's songs have a timeless quality that pumps new blood into the nostalgia.

The lyrics were so familiar to all that Little Richard found himself competing with the audience.

Little Richard, flamboyantly clad in a blue velvet jumpsuit and cape, opened his stint with two blockbusters, "Lucille" and "Good Golly, Miss Molly", before slowing the tempo for "Going to the River".

The energetic singer-pianist promptly jumped back into the fast and furious "Rip It Up", followed by a host of other blistering palm wearers and tearers.

Sahara Signs Stars To Open New Season

Hotel Sahara–Tahoe Entertainment Director Jimmy Dean announced that Rowan and Martin will open the High Sierra Theatre's Superstar Season on May 18.

It was comedy writing that first brought the pair together. Both were journalism majors, who combined their talents to produce material for an established comedy act. When they demonstrated the material it was unanimously acknowledged that they performed the lines better than their clients.

Rowan and Martin was born. The rest is show business history. From a summer replacement show the format skyrocketed into one of the most successful television entries in history. The key to success is simple. "Let yourself go. Have fun. Laugh it up." Onstage the pair take up where strict television boundaries leave off. The result is hysterical!

Dean is aggressive and confident as he sets about final booking arrangements for the High Sierra Theatre. Several favorites from past seasons, such as Danny Kaye, will return.

Emphasis will be on comedians. Top names such as Buddy Hackett, Don Rickles, Johnny Carson and Jack Benny will be appearing. Other well–known Las Vegas stars will be announced as soon as negotiations are concluded.

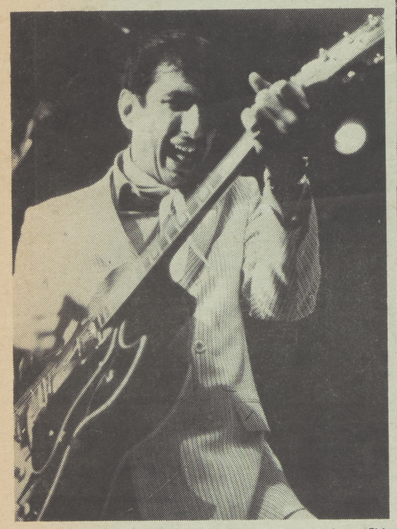
Dean has announced several changes in the hotel's entertainment policy. On Jan. 6, the Carey–Garfin Four moved from the Juniper Lounge to the Pine Cone for nightly sessions beginning at midnight.

The Pine Cone Bar was a popular tradition in the early days of Sahara–Tahoe. The intimate lounge had its own stage, regularly occupied by the Carey–Garfin Four, Buckley and Collins and other local favorites.

Emphasis on larger rooms relagated the Pine Cone to bar status in recent years. One of Dean's first actions after resuming the post of entertainment director, a position he held from 1965–67, was to put live music back into the room.

More policy changes are in the offing. The Juniper Lounge will be used for many more kinds of acts than in the past. The 250–seat theatre, currently open from 8:15 p.m.–4 a.m. may soon see productions such as "Bottoms Up '70."

HEADLINING BILL - Holding onto top spot in the Juniper Lounge is popular vocalist Andy Russell. Russell is known for many hit recordings featuring a Latin tempo. He continues in the lounge through Jan. 28 along with Eddie Cano and Carol Kai.



APRES SKI MUSIC - Providing music in the Tyrolean Apres Ski Haus of Hotel Sahara-Tahoe are Douglas and Lonero, two modern musicians who are well-known to Lake Tahoe crowds. Douglas, pictured above, and his partner will be occupying the Tyrolean stage from 7 p.m. to 1 a.m. The Tyrolean room also features free fondue parties and ski movies.

IN JUNIPER - Sparkling Cherry Wainer is currently performing in Hotel Sahara-Tahoe's Juniper Lounge where she is delighting audiences with her charm and talent.

Cal-Neva To Show Marciano-Clay Super Fight

A little over a year ago, Woroner Productions, of Miami, electrified the boxing world with its presentation of the All-Time Computerized Heavyweight Championship Tournament on over 600 radio stations throughout the world. The results of this tournament, that ended with Rocky Marciano being crowned champ, also succeeded in electrifying one Muhammed Ali (Cassius Clay) into immediate action in the form of a $1 million law suit that he filed in Chicago Superior Court against Woroner Productions.

It was Clay's contention that he would have beaten Marciano (Clay was eliminated late in the tournament on a 15-round decision by Jim Jeffries) had they met, and he wasn't about to accept defeat at the hands of Woroner Productions and its computer.

The law suit was settled for $1, but with the proviso that Clay be given a computer shot at all-time champ Marciano and, the price being right, the "Rock" was willing to give him the opportunity.

At this point, Murray Woroner, president of Woroner Productions, became aware of the fact that he had all the ingredients for truly a "Super Fight" and proceeded along the lines of literally getting the two men into the ring and filming an actual fight. Incredibly, both fighters jumped at the opportunity and agreed to meet in a secretly filmed match, with the results being called by the computer.

Marciano immediately went into an intensive training schedule, along with a rigid diet, and got himself into nearly the same weight and condition he was in during his championship reign. Clay, too, rounded into shape. Both fighters, it turned out, were dead serious about the impending bout, and the usual run of pre-fight comments eminated from their respective camps. To wit: Clay: "If he's still alive I'll drop him in five"; Marciano: "I think if I can get him into a corner I can KO him."

Clay stated that his battle plan would be to "stick and run", while Marciano vowed he would not change his basic style, but would "bull Clay into the ropes and corners, concentrating his attack on the arms and body in an attempt to slow down Clay's vaunted hand speed and make him vulnerable to his (Marciano's) lethal bombs.

In all, slightly more than 70 rounds, of three minutes each, of boxing between these two superb athletes were filmed during a two-session, five day shooting schedule. The last day of filming took place just three weeks prior to Marciano's shocking and untimely death.

As the filming progressed, it became readily apparent to all concerned that Clay and Marciano were not content to merely "act" for the cameras. Both fighters, while adhering to the computer read outs, were, nonetheless, stinging each other with good, hard punches, and the resounding splats of well directed leather hitting flesh echoed throughout the sound stage and the minds of the camera crew. Clay repeatedly complained of the deadening effects of Marciano's relentless attack on his arms and body, and Rocky became more and more incredulous at Clay's speed and ability to sting him and retreat or cause him to miss.

The result of what is now three years of constant effort and research will be there for all to see when the "Super Fight" will be shown at 7 p.m. Jan. 20 in the Celebrity Theatre of Cal-Neva Lodge. It is expected that this match between Marciano and Clay will produce the largest single-night theater audience and box office gate in history, since it will be a one night, and one night only, showing. The "Super Fight" will not be rerun in theaters, news reels or on television at any time.

Tickets are now on sale at Cal-Neva.

Football To TV

Former football running back Cookie Gilchrist makes a guest appearance in the episode of "The Beverly Hillbillies" to be seen Wednesday, Jan. 28, in color on the CBS Television Network.

Gilchrist was one of the ten best running backs in the history of professional football, says Murray Olderman, sports editor for the Newspaper Enterprises Association, in his latest book, "The Running Backs."

Surprising Script

Shelley Berman, who writes his own comedy monologues, says he was surprised by the Bob Weiskopf – Bob Schiller script of the episode of the ABC Television Network's "Love, American Style" in which he appears Friday, Jan. 23, 10–11 p.m., PST (the first show in the series' new time period).

"The lines, the reactions, the rhythm were more like me than the things I write for myself," Berman said.

Newley Next; Then Vikki Carr At Harrah's

Anthony Newley, entertainment world's Dr. Dooeverything, returns to Harrah's Tahoe South Shore Room twice nightly Jan. 16-17.

Newley will be making his second appearance in two months. His Tahoe debut last Thanksgiving weekend was a walkover success for the London-born bonanza of talent and vitality.

Brilliant young singing star Vikki Carr will keep the spacious theatre-restaurant full of song following the Newley's departure.

The lovely Miss Carr will headline Jan. 23-24, with Aaron and Freddie, the Rudells and conductor Andy Thomas also appearing.

Newley's stint last November consisted exclusively of material composed by himself and-or Leslie Bricusse for London and Broadway stage musicals and for motion pictures.

One number which Newley does best is "If I Can Talk to the Animals," the Oscar-winning song that he and Bricusse wrote for "Dr. Doolittle." In the film Newley co-starred with Rex Harrison.

Newley will also be expected to pull some numbers from "Stop the World - I Want to Get Off" and "The Roar of the Greasepaint - the Smell of the Crowd."

The multi-talented performer directed, starred in and co-wrote the two hit musicals with Bricusse.

In addition, Newley has written, directed, produced and composed music in movies and in musical theatre; attained popularity as a recording artist in England and the U.S.; been a star performer on TV; and a headliner in nightclubs.

Newley is the total professional. There is little wasted motion or misplaced emphasis in a Newley performance.

His movement on stage and expressions are precise, and are necessary only because he is able to blend both with the lyrics.

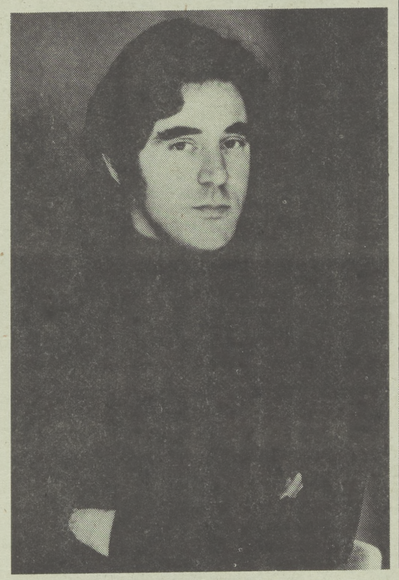
Newley's hands, facial expressions and timing all work together in contributing to the totality of the number.

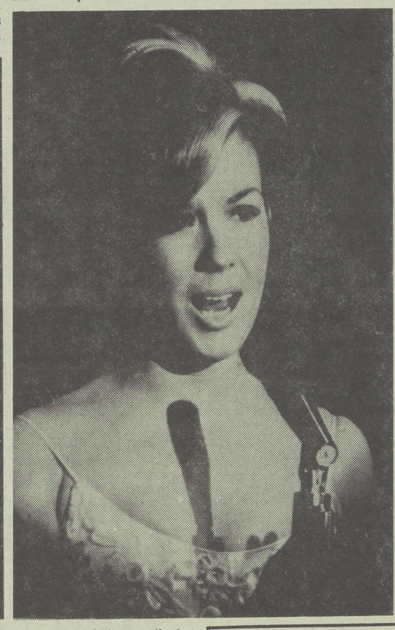
Songs expected to be included in Newley's thick catalog of music are "What Kind of Fool Am I?", "Who Can I Turn To?," "Something in Your Smile," "Pop Goes the Weasel!" and "Feeling Good."

Balancing the Newley show bill will be Carazini, a comedy and magic act.

The Brian Farnon Orchestra will supply background music during the dinner minutes and will also bolster the Newley show.

Miss Totie Fields, swiftly becoming one of the top female comediennes in the country, will close out Harrah's Tahoe January slate the final weekend, Jan. 30-31.





HARRAH'S STARS – Anthony Newley will be making his second appearance in two months in Harrah's Stateline Cabaret Jan. 16–17. The composer and singer is expected to pull songs from his many London and Broadway musicals, as well as from his motion pictures. Talented, stunning songstress Vikki Carr brings her song and spirit to Harrah's Tahoe South Shore Room Jan. 23–24. Miss Carr will appear with Aaron and Freddie, the Rudells and conductor Andy Thomas.

Evalani, Islanders Share Harvey's Stage With Marlane, Swingin' Dolls

The most colorful, lovely and authentic Polynesian troupe in show business bows into Harvey's Resort Hotel with Evalani and the South Sea Islanders appearing Jan. 15 through Feb. 5 in the Theatre Lounge.

One of the most exciting shows of its kind, Evalani devotes much time and expense keeping her act in the "par excellance" category. Costuming is a pre-requisite as it must also be fresh, colorful and authentic. Concentration toward the pertinent pace and presentation determine the success of the South Sea Islanders and there is much concentration in that area. Evalani displays determination in achieving set goals for her group which, she feels, has been the measure of success.

The South Sea Islanders are a select, hand-picked group of Polynesian dancers and musicians coming from Evalani's personal acquaintances. Included in the troupe is her sister Luana and three other Polynesian lovelies who truly "round out" the group in the dancing department. Five talented musicians augment the remainder of the South Sea Islanders.

A true Polynesian princess, Evalani was born in American Samoa in a village overlooking the harbor Pago Pago and learned the Island dances as a child. At the age of 16 she came to the United States as a featured dancer, earning the reputation as the world's fastest Tahitian dancer. The South Sea Islanders excel in the graceful war and festival chants, and the exotic, haunting songs of the South Seas.

Appearing with Evalani and the South Sea Islanders in Harvey's Theatre Lounge is the vocally exciting Marlane and the Swingin' Dolls, diverting quintet of attractive singing musicians who specialize in parodies of country-styled combos, usually done with witty spontaneity.

Marlane, who doesn't use her surname, plays an electronic organ expertly while leading her bevy of mini-skirted dolls. Patrons find it east to sing along with the group when it begins rocking "Bill Bailey," "Release Me" and other folksy old ballads with happy-go-lucky feeling. They are appearing Jan. 18-23.

At the Top of the Wheel Bobby Page and his Quintet play for diners and dancers in the Tiki Lounge through Feb. 8.

QUINTET LEADER – Marlane and the Swingin' Dolls, a quintet of attractive singing musicians who specialize in parodies of country-styled combos, open at Harvey's Resort Hotel Theatre Lounge, Jan. 18 for one week.

Cabaret Lists Current Acts

The timeless, energetic beat of the "King of Rock 'n Soul," Little Richard, continues to keep audiences on the musical string in Harrah's Stateline Cabaret.

Little Richard began a four-week engagement Jan. 1 in the Tahoe lounge and has played to capacity and overflow rooms each night.

"Lucille," "Good Golly, Miss Molly," "Tutti Fruitti," "Long Tall Sally," "Bonie Moronie," "Rip It Up" and "Lawdy Miss Clawdy" are among the songs in the singer-pianist's rock 'n roll repertoire.

Both the lyrics and the beat of Little Richard's hit songs have a timeless quality that appeals to those who were too old or too young to have moved with the sultan of song during the Fifties.

A bright, new singing-instrumental group – the Rising Generation – opened Jan. 1 and will entertain through Jan. 21.

The Rising Generation had the distinction to be selected to tour with President Nixon on his 1968 presidential campaign and made numerous network TV appearances with him.

Continuing Role

Veteran actor Gene Raymond will play a continuing role in "Paris 7000," dramatic adventure series starring George Hamilton, which premieres on the ABC Television Network Thursday, Jan. 22.

Raymond depicts Robert Stevens, Hamilton's immediate superior in the consulate of the American embassy in Paris, starting with the second episode of the series, "No Place to Hide," to be telecast Thursday, Jan. 29.

Trio Continues

Continuing to attract large crowds in the Terrace Lounge at North Tahoe's Cal-Neva Lodge is the Johnny Hamlin Trio. They alternate with popular pianist and organist, Dorothy Patterson to provide a variety of music for dancing nightly from 5 until 2 a.m.

While enjoying the entertainment, skiers may partake of fondue and hot-mulled wine served from 5 to 7 p.m.

HELD OVER – The International Set has been so popular during its holiday engagement at Kings Castle, Incline Village, that it has been held over until Jan. 20. The group will perform nightly, except Monday, in the casino lounge beginning at 8 p.m. The International Set is composed of musicians from Japan, Australia, Tahiti, New York, and Hawaii.

International Set Held Over

The International Set, five swinging guys who play the gamut of song from rock to blues, have been held over until Jan. 20 at Nate Jacobson's Kings Castle Hotel and Casino.

The group is truely an international set with Australia, United States, Japan and Tahiti represented.

The drums with a beat are handled by Ross Hayasshida of Japan, who also doubles in the vocal department, as do all the group. David Scott of Australia, who grew up in Tahiti, plays saxophone and flute, while Bob Simmons of New York handles the lead guitar. Sandy Bailey of Hawaii plays bass guitar and Jerry Young, also of Hawaii, fills in on the Latin percussion instruments.

The International Set is one of the more popular new groups to play Lake Tahoe and came direct from a smash month at the Famous PJ.'s in Hollywood.

Some of their most requested numbers are "Comin' Home", "Didn't We", "Once in My Life", and "Grapvine". Their medley from the Broadway hit "hair" is also a big hit with the customers.

Oddly enough the group didn't know each other when they were formed three years ago in Hawaii. Harvey Ragsdale, who was responsible for bringing the Beatles and other big name groups to Hawaii for radio station KPOI, needed a group to open the Waikiki Beef and Grog nightclub.

At Home In Paris

Anne Baxter, who guest-stars in "beyond Reproach," initial episode of the "Paris 7000" series, starring George Hamilton and permiering on the ABC Television Network Thursday, Jan. 22 (10-11 p.m., PST), is quite at home in Paris, having lived there at various times. She also made several films there and speaks French fluently.

Our "Horn of Plenty" will change your mind about buffets.

Frankly, most buffets look alike. And taste alike. You know beforehand what to expect.

But the "Horn of Plenty" dinner buffet in the South Shore Room is different. We've declared war on the copycat buffet.

You'll enjoy the complimentary wine.

To begin with, it looks different. That's not too hard. But it doesn't just taste like every other buffet.

We like to give our chefs a chance to show off their originality. You'll like the results. Seven or more steaming entrees and 14 icy salads, served with complimentary wine – to complement the taste of their intriguing selections. Enjoy the varied appetizers and the tempting desserts.

The whole atmosphere is different. Live music, provided by Brian Farnon. Dancing. The glow of good conversation and good food. The dress is casual. After ski. After Harrah's. After anything.

For $2.95, enjoy more than dinner. Enjoy the occasion. In any size group. It's $1.95 for children. Bring them along, Sunday through Thursday, 5 to 11 p.m.
